Marin's Mrs. Washington To Mark 104th Birthday

'Doing All The Good That I Can'

By BRUCE COLEMAN

A calendar with large print is something which Mrs. Catherine Washington of Marin City would like to have for her 104th birthday Monday.

"I'm very nearly blind," said the centenarian who has cataracts in each eye. However, she adds, "I'm thankful I can hear."

She has calendars but the numbers are too small and, if she finds a calendar with large numerals, she will place it near her 1964 American calendar of presidents.

HISTORY CALENDAR

"I call it my history calendar," she said. "Lots of those presidents I have associated with. There's been lots of changes in 100 years without putting four to it. I have associated with Grover Cleveland," said Mrs. Washington.

Asked what she looks forward to in life, Mrs. Washington replied, "Nothing. Nothing on the earth do I have in mind that I want. Just keep the roof over my head and have something to eat."

NO LONGER READ

She explained she can no longer read her scriptures but someone from Jehovah Witnesses comes to read to her at least once a week. She rests often and can still watch television.

Visitors? "Now and then. All come one day and no one comes the next."

"I was looking forward to someone from the I-J," she said. She said someone has been visiting her from the newspaper since she was 90 and lived in San Rafael.

NOT AS WELL

"I'm not as well as last year. I have intestinal flu. I'm not very good company . . . but I've got the same tongue I used to have."

She said that last year she had a better appetite and related that she goes three times a week to Marin General Hospital for a checkup. "I'm supposed to go today but I'm not up to it," she added.

"I live by the entire Book (the Bible)," said the gentle, gray-haired woman, "by the writings of Moses and by the New Testament of scripture starting with Matthew and ending at Revelations."

"Man lives with an expectation to accomplish something. My accomplishing day is over. My eyes are going out like a light. I haven't any living children that I know anything about. The result is . . . do all the good

FAIR WEATHER RETURNS AFTER SPRING STORM

A spring rainstorm dumped more than an inch of rain on parts of Marin County last night—the first rain in the county in three weeks.

Fair weather returned to the county by morning and was expected to stay through Sunday.

Fairfax reported the heaviest rainfall with 1.17 inches. Other counts were Point Reyes, 1; Woodacre, .95; San Anselmo, .91; Mill Valley, .89; Ross, .86; San Rafael, .77; and Santa Venetia, .70.

The San Rafael rainfall boosted the seasonal total to 32.30 compared with 16.26 at this time last year. Average for Feb. 27 is 27.59.

Nuclear Power Plant 'Is History-Making'

BERKELEY (UPI) — State Water Director William E. Warne said today the proposed nuclear plant for the state water project will contain a history-making "innovation."

"It can be the most important advance in the nuclear field since man's discovery of how to harness the atom," he said in an address to the California Power Users Conference.

Warne said the plant will be the first large-scale field demonstration of an advanced process known as "breeding."

Under this process, nuclear fuel ores are converted in such a way that they breed substantial fuel at the same time that energy is released for power generation.

"Breeding has been successful in the laboratories of the nuclear scientists and now the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) is ready to demonstrate its practicality in large-scale operation in the field," he said.

Present use of atomic fuels is "exceedingly inefficient," the director said.

Warne said the significance of the new process is that it will multiply by 50 the energy potential of the nation's nuclear fuel supplies by making it possible to use with efficiency large reserves of natural uranium and thorium.

The plant will be used to generate power to pump state water over the mountains to Southern California.

German Laws Given Protest

BERKELEY (UPI) — Nearly 1,000 students attended a rally at the University of California yesterday to protest West German laws that apply to the statute of limitations to Nazi war criminals.

The crowd, one of the largest at the university this semester, heard three speakers condemn the Nazi for the murder of six million Jews during World War II. The speakers demanded that the hunt for the war criminals continue.

The rally was organized by the Students Against Nazi Amnesty, a newly formed organization which intends to picket the West German consulate in San Francisco Sunday.

Johnson's School Bill Vote Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Education and Labor Committee failed to reach agreement on President Johnson's $1.25 billion school aid bill today and postponed further action until Tuesday.

Chairman Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., insisted the delay in no way endangered the administration's bill and predicted it would be speedily approved at Tuesday's session.

Burglars Get $9,000 Loot In Sausalito

Gems, Silverware Stolen While Owners Are Away

Thieves broke into the Sausalito home of Walter S. Lawrence at 72 Platt Avenue yesterday and got away with jewelry and silverware worth $9,000.

The haul included three antique silver services, one of them a hand made German set valued at $2,000. Among the jewelry stolen was a $500 diamond medallion.

HOUSE EMPTY

Detective Herbert Smith of the Sausalito police said the break-in occurred between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. when the house was empty. A ladder was used to gain entry through an unlocked bathroom window and a number of rooms were ransacked.

At the time Lawrence, a 55-year-old public relations man, was out of town on business and his wife, Hermine, an interior designer, had an appointment in the morning.

When she arrived home at about 2 p.m. she discovered the burglary and called police.

LONG LIST

Also in the long list of stolen property are various flatware services, pearl-handled knives and a $200 camera. Mrs. Lawrence said it took some time to work out exactly what was missing.

"I used to think this was a nice, quiet little place," said Mrs. Lawrence today.

Detective Smith said today no definite leads have yet turned up yet.

Lodge Working For Johnson On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam Henry Cabot Lodge is studying recent developments in the Southeast Asian country.

President Johnson assigned Lodge to be "a consulant for a few days" on the Vietnamese problem yesterday during a White House meeting between the two men. The session was held at Lodge's request.

Leaving the executive mansion after the meeting, Lodge strongly endorsed Johnson's policies in Viet Nam. He said he would confer with administration officials during the next several days on the situation.

Lodge said that he will make recommendations to the President "if I find something I think we are not doing."

No Damage Reported From Earthquake

SAN BERNARDINO (AP) — No damage was reported from a quake that shook Southern California communities about 60 miles east of Los Angeles Friday night.

The quake was felt in San Bernardino, Colton, Rialto and Fontana. It was not noticed at Victorville, Barstow, Needles, Twentynine Palms, Riverside and Big Bear Lake.

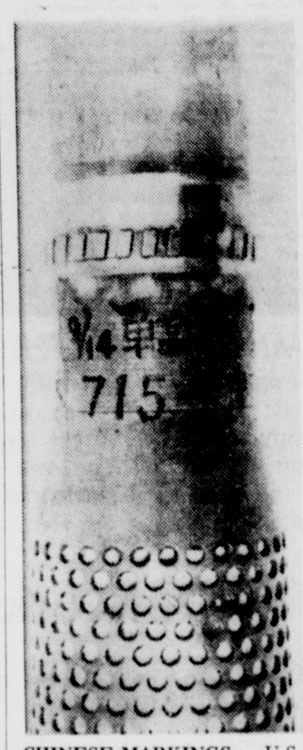
MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin left Moscow today to attend the opening of the East German trade fair in Leipzig.

North Viets Charged With Aggressive War



CHINESE MARKINGS — U.S. government today published this photo in White Paper, with caption reading: "Chinese markings on 75mm. recoilless rifle shells captured at Dinh Toung in December, 1963."

U.S. Has 'White Paper'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States published a new "white paper" on Viet Nam today that charged North Viet Nam with waging an aggressive war against South Viet Nam as if it were an open invasion.

"It is important," the State Department said in the 14,000-word document, "for free men to know what has been happening in Viet Nam, and how, and why. That is the purpose of this report."

BOMBING SUPPORT

An evident purpose of the report, too, is to lend support to the Johnson administration's policy of striking against targets in North Viet Nam. These bombings, undertaken three weeks ago, are expected to continue.

The war in Viet Nam has reached new levels of intensity, the white paper said. "The elaborate effort by the Communist regime in North Viet Nam to conquer the south has grown, not diminished."

This effort, the State Department said, is a deliberate campaign of concealed aggression "as real as that of an invading army."

PRECISE FIGURES

The white paper was designed to show with precise figures the extent to which the Viet Cong guerrillas in the south are supported and controlled by North Viet Nam. Thereby it sought to refute any suggestion that it is simply a civil war being fought in South Viet Nam.

The United States "will not

Lawyer, Wife Badly Injured In Auto Crash

A San Rafael attorney and his wife were seriously injured at 1:30 a.m. today when their car spun on rain-slick Highway 101 and crashed into a concrete pillar of the Lucky Road pedestrian overpass in Greenbrae.

In critical condition at Marin General Hospital today was William J. Larson of 144 Valley View Avenue. His wife, Selma M. Larson was in fair condition. Both are 42.

Each suffered head injuries, and Mrs. Larson suffered a broken shoulder.

The California Highway Patrol said it was raining heavily at the time of the crash. Larson's northbound station wagon was demolished.

Larson is a partner in the law firm of Larson and Donohoe of San Francisco.

Employment Up 3 Per Cent

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Employment in California rose 3 per cent in 1964 over the previous year, marking the second straight year there's been such a jump.

There were 6.6 million persons employed in the state last year, the Employment Department reported in figures released yesterday. This represented a hike of 195,000 over 1963.

Increases were noted in services, trade and government industries.

The Los Angeles-Long Beach labor market area showed an all-time high of 2,792,800 for December.

In the six-county San Francisco-Oakland area the rate rose 15,600 to 1,267,800.

Big Viet Attack —No Reds Found

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. military authorities today mounted a massive helicopter strike by Viet Namese troops — possibly the largest of the war — but failed to find a single Communist guerrilla in an area lashed repeatedly by B57 jet bombers.

Shortly after dawn 137 helicopters flew more than 1,000 government troops into a small jungle clearing 45 miles southeast of the capital. They followed 60 fighter-bombers which blasted the jungles surrounding the landing zone.

But as evening fell an American military spokesman here said the government troops failed to make contact with any Communist troops in the area or even to turn up any suspected Communists. Earlier this week the area was reported swarming with Viet Cong.

The helicopter - borne assault was staged in the same general vicinity of the massive jet bomber strikes of Thursday and Friday. The implication was that the deadly fragmentation bombs dropped by the B57s had sent the Viet Cong fleeing elsewhere.

A spokesman said even though the troops on the ground had failed to make contact with any Communist troops an additional 30 bombing runs were made in the region by an undisclosed number of the twin-engined jet bombers.

The largest previous helicopter operation was operation "Brushfire" which involved 115 helicopters and also left American military men disappointed.

U.S. military sources said the cost of today's operation was somewhere in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Malcolm X Goes To His Grave; Funeral Tense, But No Violence

COMBINED AP & UPI

NEW YORK — Malcolm X, assassinated Negro militant who became the symbol of frustration in America's Negro capital of Harlem, went to his grave today eulogized as a man who had come to believe in the possible brotherhood of all men.

Some 600 of his followers packed into a heavily guarded church to mourn the eloquent ex-convict whose defection from the racist Black Muslim sect touched off brother - against-brother warfare between Negroes loyal to him and disciples of Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad.

Funeral eulogies were delivered by several well known civil rights leaders and two leaders of the Islamic faith. But it was Negro actor Ossie Davis who best summed up the feeling of the mourners.

"Malcolm was our manhood, our living black manhood. This was his meaning to his people," Davis said.

The funeral took place in a tense Harlem atmosphere — but

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Navy Flier Is Presumed Dead

CAMP PENDLETON (AP)—An American missile armed with an explosive warhead blasted a Navy jet attack fighter out of the sky, the Navy says.

Cooper

The plane had wandered into a restricted missile firing area during maneuvers Thursday, a spokesman added.

The flier, Lt. (j.g.) Larry J. Cooper, 25, is presumed dead. Scattered debris from the plane has been found but the Navy has little hope of locating him.

Cooper piloted the A4E attack plane in conjunction with a joint Navy-Marine training exercise off the Southern California coast.

Cooper had taken off from the carrier Midway and flown his plane into the missile target zone 150 miles southwest of San Diego. He flew the same course and at the same time that a target drone was expected. The guided missile frigate Preble fired two Terrier missiles. The second knocked down Cooper's plane.

Waterworks District Formation Is Sought

The Marin County Local Agency Commission has received a notice of intention to form Marin County Waterworks District No. 1 covering about 1,000 acres in the Nicasio area.

The area of the proposed district lies about two miles east of Nicasio, extending north from Lucas Valley Road to Halleck Creek.

The resolution of intention was submitted by Frank S. Soares Jr., 14 Crestwood Drive, San Rafael; Kenny Burt, P.O. Box 36, Forest Knolls, and Lee Roy, 2535 Mission Street, San Francisco.

The purpose of the district would be to develop a water supply and construct, maintain and operate a water system.

The land is now agricultural, but Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said construction of water facilities would be a prelude to development.

The notice will be considered by the commission at its next meeting, March 11.

No Complaint Due In Beating Case

No complaint will be issued against Richard David Wells, 41, in the alleged beating of his wife, Helen, last Monday, according to the district attorney's office.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Dufficy said Mrs. Wells, of 1425 Park Avenue, Novato, declined to prosecute. Wells is owner of Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue, Novato.

Bennett Won't Bow To Governor

William M. Bennett of Kentfield today continued to declare that he represents the people of California as special counsel despite Gov. Edmund G. Brown's declaration that he does not.

Bennett, now a member of the Public Utilities Commission, won a case against two huge natural gas companies in 1962 while he was special counsel for the state.

This resulted in a 79-million-dollar refund for California customers and an order from the United States Supreme Court to break up a merger of the El Paso Natural Gas Co. and the Pacific Northwest Gas Co.

Bennett came back into the case yesterday with a brief filed in the high court charging that a district judge in Salt Lake City was not proceeding "without delay" as ordered in breaking up the merger.

Governor Brown told Bennett last week that he had no authority in the matter. Bennett said he did not intend to be "insubordinate" but that as far as he is concerned, he still is special counsel in the case.

San Rafael Canal Dock Permit Due

The Army Corps of Engineers will probably issue a permit early next week on a proposed dock planned in San Rafael Canal about 450 steps downstream from the turning basin.

The navigational permit was asked by Marin Engineering Associates of 155 Third Street, San Rafael.

The permit department of the corps' office in San Francisco reported that it had received no objection on the proposal.

Jones Divorce Case Partially Concluded

The Preston Jones divorce case that continued for days and days at the close of last year, was concluded yesterday, partially.

Marin County Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner filed a determination yesterday ruling that Mrs. Janet Jones of 16 Marina Way, San Rafael, should receive $400,000 of her husband's 1.7 million dollar holdings.

Judge Gardiner told newsmen that Mrs. Jones will get the divorce decree, but not before May.

Lawyers in the meantime may debate values of the assets prior to final determination by the court.

The ruling splits the community property portion of the assets — $800,000 — between Jones and his wife. The balance of $900,000 is Jones' separate property.

Jones, a partner in the Prestolite manufacturing company of San Leandro, was charged with extreme cruelty in his wife's divorce suit. He made the same charge against her in a counter suit.

Appointment Mixup Still Confusing

The Independent-Journal compounded an error and added to the confusion over appointments to the Marin County Park and Recreation Commission.

In an article Thursday the paper reported that Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker nominated Lothar Salin to the commission Jan. 19 at the re-appointment session of the board even though Salin was not in his First District.

This was incorrect. It was Supervisor Thomas T. Storer who nominated Salin to replace James M. Fletcher.

Both Fletcher and Salin live in the newly expanded Fourth District represented by Storer. Why Fletcher was replaced by another man in the same district is still not known.

"I don't know why that happened," Salin said in calling attention to the error yesterday.

Fletcher also said he was surprised by the move.

If supervisors were trying to give representation for each district on the commission, they would have appointed someone from Ernest N. Kettenhofen's Second District. The Second District still does not have anyone on the commission while the Fifth District has two members.

Supervisors now are planning to increase the commission to seven members, assuring at least one member from each of the five supervisorial districts.

Corte Maderan To Leave For Rights Work

Michael J. Smith, 24, of 61 Pixley Avenue, Corte Madera, will leave tomorrow to register voters for the Freedom Democratic Party in Mississippi. He learned yesterday he had been accepted as a volunteer.

Smith said he will be stationed at McColm, Miss., but later may be transferred to Alabama.

Smith, who has been working as a shoe salesman for the Corte Madera Montgomery Ward Store, was until this semester a student at University of California at Berkeley, and was one of those arrested in the Sproul Hall sit-in.

He said his case is still pending but he has been granted court permission to leave the state. He has pleaded innocent and submitted the case on the police report. He said he has agreed to return if called back by the judge.

PAPER

abandon friends who want to remain free," the paper said. "It will do what must be done to help them."

Thus, Washington underlined its support of Saigon, a support it is giving with men, money and material.

Yesterday U.S. military authorities said several hundred more American GIs will be sent to South Viet Nam.

The State Department's case against North Viet Nam was presented before the world amid mounting pressures in several quarters for consideration of negotiations to end the conflict.

The United States would be ready at once to reduce its military involvement if peace could be restored in South Viet Nam, the document said.

But, it added, "the choice now between peace and continued and increasingly destructive conflict is one for the authorities in Hanoi to make."

The last report on the Viet Nam war was issued by the State Department in 1961. Today the department said new evidence of North Viet Nam aggression has accumulated and "the government of the United States believes that evidence should be presented to its own citizens and to the world."

"Military men, technicians, political organizers, propagandists and secret agents have been infiltrating into the republic of Viet Nam from the north in growing numbers.

"The flow of Communist-supplied weapons, particularly those of large caliber, has increased. Communications links with Hanoi are extensive. Despite the heavy casualties of three years of fighting, the hard core Viet Cong force is considerably larger now than it was at the end of 1961."

Bridge Board Cuts Bus Toll

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District yesterday took formal action to cut commute bus tolls from $1 to 13 cents.

The action forestalls a proposed 30 per cent increase in bus fares proposed earlier by Greyhound Bus Lines for Sonoma and Marin commuters.

The directors voted 9-3 in favor of the toll cut with Lowell Edington of Napa and Dan E. London and Alvin F. Derre of San Francisco in the minority.

Directors voted 11-1 to discontinue refunds on unused sections of commute books, beginning with books sold July 1. Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco was the lone dissenter.

Woman Is Booked In Shoplifting

A woman who gave her name as Edna Gruner of San Francisco was booked at Marin County Jail yesterday afternoon on a shoplifting charge by San Rafael police.

The woman was arrested outside Purity Store in Montecito Shopping Center by store detective William Shropshire, who said she took mayonnaise, sherbet, milk, chicken and beef from the store. The woman was released on $276 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Sewer Link Is Explored At Bolinas

The possibility of linking the sewage disposal units of the Bolinas and Stinson Beach communities was further explored at a meeting of the Bolinas Public Utility District last night.

A letter of cooperation was received from the Stinson Beach County Water District, and it was decided to ask the engineers of the two authorities to consolidate existing studies. An answer on whether the link-up would be practical will be given to the board later.

Members heard of a meeting last Thursday between William Desmond, Marin County Health Officer, and the Bolinas and Stinson Public Utility Districts to discuss improvements of water supplies in the area. Desmond has agreed to inquire about state and federal aid.

He will also be seeking legal background information through the Marin County Council on a possible merger of water supplies in the Bolinas and Bolinas Beach districts.

BIRTHDAY

I can while living on the earth and when I'm dead, I'm dead.

"A friend said Monday, 'You were born to die.' But the Bible doesn't say so. We're born to live."

Mrs. Washington was once a missionary in Liberia with her late husband, George James Washington. Her parents were slaves.

She does no cooking, she said, someone coming from the county social service department every day to cook and clean her 8 Cole Drive apartment. "I 1,000 times prefer to be at home than to live in a rest home," she said.

Loverd Howard, a fresh produce man who travels door to door by truck called at Mrs. Washington's kitchen window, asking her if she needed anything today.

"You can bring me a bunch of celery, Brother Howard," she said, "a small bunch, and some oranges." Howard didn't happen to have any celery with him and Mrs. Washington said it would be all right to bring the produce tomorrow.

"Now I hope tomorrow will come," she said.

Twin Cities Merger Probed

Corte Madera residents were questioned today about the idea of merging their city with Larkspur in a community questionnaire distributed to homes by the Corte Madera Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Junior chamber members handed out 1,000 of the questionnaires, and will pick them up next Saturday.

Residents were also asked whether the volunteer fire department should be converted to a paid force and whether they wanted more public transportation, recreation facilities, sidewalks, libraries or industrial development.

'Slung-Shot' Case Dropped

A felony complaint more than two years old was dismissed yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court.

The complaint charged Barry Bergantz, 30, of New Orleans, La., with possession of a "slung-shot" in Sausalito on Dec. 28, 1962.

Bergantz had forfeited $3,000 bail shortly after his arrest. But he returned voluntarily from Louisiana last Saturday to answer the complaint.

Officers said the "slung-shot" was a rope "sap" weighted with lead, which was found in Bergantz's car.

Man, 24, Leaps To Death From Golden Gate Bridge

A 24-year-old San Francisco man leaped from the west side of the Golden Gate Bridge at 9 p.m. yesterday, just two and one-half hours after officers escorted another man from the bridge in the belief he planned to jump.

Harry Gilbert Greenblatt, a dental technician, was the third person to jump from the bridge in five days, and the 282nd fatal jumper in bridge history.

The Coast Guard was unable to find the body.

Greenblatt's leap was seen by at least three persons, according to the California Highway Patrol. One of these was John T. Lupo of San Francisco, who said he had to slam on his brakes to avoid hitting the man when he fell backward from the rail in his first attempt to go over the side.

Lupo told the patrol the man jumped on the rail, fell back into the roadway, then got up and tried again. The second time he succeeded in hurling himself over.

Identification was made through his wallet, left on the walkway, and his car, parked in the bridge's west parking lot. There was no money in the wallet, and the patrol reported finding no note.

At 6:30 p.m., two patrolmen learned that a young man climbed over the fence blocking the south end of the east walkway and was walking toward the center of the bridge. Finding him there, Patrolmen Robert W. Ericson and John F. Allison persuaded him to get in their car and ride to the toll station.

Ignoring the youth's suggestions that he "just be left alone," Ericson and Allison sought his name, but he refused to give it. They said he seemed depressed, so they turned him over to San Francisco police. They in turn took him to San Francisco General Hospital.

He was later identified as Patrick Canneg, 20, of San Francisco.

Permit To Kill Eagles Is Refused

Point Reyes Station sheep rancher Leroy Martinelli has received the word from the U.S. Department of Fish and Game: he cannot have a permit to kill eagles.

Martinelli flew into the national news last month after he shot and killed two eagles that were killing lambs on his land.

The action brought protests from bird lovers, support from lamb lovers and charges from the federal government. One of the birds was a bald eagle, the other a golden eagle. Both are protected by federal law.

Even after the charges were filed, a third eagle continued to attack Martinelli's sheep. He asked for a permit to kill it.

Jack E. Downs, U. S. game management agent in Sacramento, told Martinelli that eagles are too scarce and there is no chance of getting a permit.

"Instead he gave me one of these exploding devices," Martinelli said. It is operated by carbide gas and is the same as devices used in rice fields to frighten ducks away.

"The first day it chased all the crows out of one field into another," Martinelli said. "It also forced the deer to move. It's not the answer." He has not used it again.

Last time Martinelli saw the eagle was on February 18.

Martinelli, with his attorney, Albert E. Bagshaw, is due in Federal District Court March 4 to answer to eagle killing charges. Bagshaw said he will ask for a jury trial. The charges are misdemeanors and thus not commonly heard by juries in federal courts.

Martinelli says he has lost nine lambs in all, seven prior to Jan. 25 and 26 when he killed the eagles, and two since then.

PG&E Told Get Going On Gas

William C. Bennett, member of the California Public Utilities Commission, yesterday told representatives of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to get moving on supplying gas for the San Geronimo Valley.

Bennett, at a meeting with utility representatives, Supervisor Thomas T. Storer and Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino in San Francisco, recommended another meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday. Representatives of the various communities in San Geronimo Valley will meet PG&E officials at Lagunitas School and take a tour of the valley.

Storer said he told utility men yesterday that the potential of the valley will assure a return on investment in gas lines.

Ambulance Suggested For Bolinas

James Dougan, president of Bolinas Community Inc., last night suggested an ambulance service for the town.

He said the need is becoming more acute. It was suggested that the service could be incorporated in the fire department if drivers and first aiders in the area volunteer to operate it.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Santos told directors of the operation of a tidal wave alert and why it is important to react to it sharply. In view of the recent one, every resident in the community will receive a circular explaining exactly how it works.

Views on the Bolinas development master plan can be voiced later this month when an open meeting will be held. Any criticism of how the area is expanding can be heard then.

Boatman Burned On Hands By Gas

Gerald Beredahl of San Rafael was burned on the hands yesterday when a carburetor he was priming backfired at San Rafael Marine Repairs Inc., Harbor and Canal streets.

Beredahl had just primed the engine in a new 37-foot cabin cruiser when a co-worker, Harold Potter, started the motor. The carburetor backfired, igniting a can of gas in Beredahl's hands. Beredahl received first and second degree burns on his hands and the fire ignited the engine room floor.

The fire department was called, but Potter put the fire out in about two minutes, using a hand extinguisher. San Rafael firemen estimated damage at $150. Beredahl, who lives on a boat at the Trade Winds Yacht Harbor was treated by his own physician.

Cars Collide

California Highway motorcycle patrolman Ralph Ramirez, 30, of 5 Joan Avenue, Novato, was slightly injured today when his machine collided with the rear of a car on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at McAllister Avenue in Kentfield. His left leg was X-rayed at Marin General Hospital, found unbroken, and he was released.

MALCOLM

threatened violence did not erupt.

A heavy detail of police mingled with mourners inside as well as outside the church, which anonymous telephone callers had threatened to bomb.

The solemn ceremony was broken by applause at one point when a speaker said the bearded controversial Malcolm X, who was shot down at a rally six days ago, died "on the battlefield not in bed" in a quest for human equality and dignity.

Police manned barricades along a three-block stretch and stood atop roofs as thousands of persons gathered outside the ceremonies.

The body of Malcolm was laid out in a neck-to-foot white robe in a gleaming copper casket for the ceremony in Faith Temple, Church of God in Christ, Protestant, which volunteered its facilities as a "humanitarian gesture" for the Muslim rites.

Malcolm's widow, attired in black with a heavy black veil, sat with relatives and friends in the front of the mourners.

Seated among the audience was Malcolm's sister, Ella Mae Collins of Boston, who has indicated she will assume Malcolm's role as leader of the Organization for Afro-American Unity (OAAU).

But Malcolm's two surviving brothers were absent. They were in Chicago attending the annual convention of the Black Muslim sect, Malcolm's archenemies who are accused of arranging his death.

Malcolm's burial place was in Ferncliffe Cemetery, Hartsdale, in neighboring Westchester County, 150 yards from the grave of James Powell, 15, a Negro youth, whose killing touched off riots last summer in Harlem.

Young Powell was shot by an off-duty police officer who said the youth approached him with a knife.

Westchester Sheriff John E. Hoy said police had been watching the cemetary since yesterday to guard against anyone disturbing the grave site.

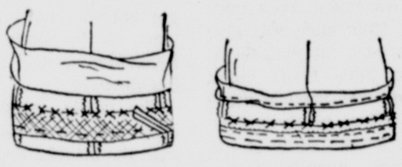
Hair Canvas Type Interfacing Can Not Be Placed In Seams

By EUNICE FARMER



Your latest information on the notched collar was excellent, however, you didn't mention the interfacing. Should this be basted to the undercollar and should it be sewed into the seams? Mrs. A. S.

Dear Mrs. A. S.

Sorry, but this was a lesson on construction techniques concerning the notched collar, not on interfacing.

If you are using an interfacing called hair canvas, with a high percentage of hair, you cannot place this in the seams. The seams would be too springy. In this case you would stop the interfacing just short of the seam and either apply cotton tape to your interfacing and the other edge to the seam, or you would cut the seam allowance of the interfacing away and catch-stitch to the garment just short of the five eighths inch.

One of my favorite interfacings that we have used over and over in my sewing classes has just enough hair for shaping, but not so much that it cannot be applied in the seams. Interfacing is applied to the wrong side of the garment fronts and to the undercollar.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Amelia Lehl, Portland, Ore., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix pressing board for this suggestion.

Now that white gloves are part of the Girl Scout uniform, there is a problem of soiled or lost gloves. Sew or crochet a loop onto the cuff of the gloves on the inside seam, just short of the cuff top. Use this loop to hang from the belt hook which is normally used for the pocket knife. This little hint will keep the gloves nice and white and most important—together.

How do you raise the bustline dart and not alter the armhole? Mrs. L. J. H.

Dear Mrs. L. J. H.:

If the underarm dart has to be raised, it is best to keep the base position the same at the underarm seam and raise the point of the dart only. This will give you more of a French dart which is not only very popular now, but also great for most figures.

I have been reading lately about the soft look to hems and that the hardpressed look is out of style. Is this really true and just what does that soft look mean? Mrs. M. R. B.

Dear Mrs. M. R. B.:

There are parts of a garment that should never be hardpressed, hems, lapels, sleeves, etc. I am sure that your husband would throw a small fit if his suits had hard creases pressed into the sleeves and if the lapels were pressed flat.

To avoid the hard-pressed look in your hems, you may use the following method or completely underline a skirt. If you underline the skirt, the lining would be double in the hem and would avoid looking too sharply pressed.

If you aren't underlining your skirt, cut a strip of sheet wadding or any soft type interfacing 5 inches wide on the bias. Baste to your skirt 1 inch below the hemline. Catch-stitch the upper edge to your skirt backing or very loosely to each of the skirt seams. Carefully turn up the skirt hem, baste in position and lightly press with a press cloth. Machine stitch one-fourth inch from the raw edge of the skirt or overcast to prevent fraying. Turn back about one-half inch and loosely blind stitch the hem to the bias strip, making sure to tack to each of the seams for added strength.

Be sure to write me if there are any questions on this and also let me know how you like the effect. If you have kept my instructions on hemming jackets and coats you will find these instructions very similar.

We Hope Land Boom Is Not Just A Bubble

EVERYBODY IN MARIN is pretty thoroughly aware that real estate prices here are sky high.

Even if you haven't thought about buying or selling, your tax bill reminds you that what you own has appreciated immensely in the past decade or two. What sold for a thousand dollars 15 years ago may be worth 20 thousand or more now.

And if you look at real estate elsewhere in the state, you will immediately observe that Marin isn't the only place where prices are soaring; albeit, they may not yet have climbed so high in some more remote areas of California—at least not yet.

TAKE A PIECE of rather pretty hillside up in northern Sonoma or southern Mendocino County. If it is NOT along the coast, NOT near a river or lake, NOT suited to agriculture, NOT close enough to habitation to be needed for tract development in the foreseeable future—can it be worth anything at all?

What would be the going price per acre?

People who have observed land values for a generation will tell you frankly, "There's no telling how much it is worth. It's worth what someone will pay for it and there is no telling how much that may be."

LAND, WHICH only a few years ago could hardly find a buyer at any price, now is gobbled up at several hundred dollars or more per acre.

The per acre price varies, of course, with the size of the piece.

A thousand acres might sell for 250 or 300 thousand dollars which means $250 or $300 per acre. Cut it into 10 separate 100-acre parcels, each with access and water available, and the price will rise to $500 or more per acre.

Divide it into 10-acre sites, grade a few access roads, get electric power nearby, and the price goes to $1,000 per acre.

Cut it again into "retirement ranches" and it rises to two or three thousand per acre, all without any great investment in costly improvements like paved streets, sewers, curbs and gutters, and so on.

ARE THESE asking prices fixed by speculators?

Hardly, because the price ultimately is determined by the willingness of the buyer. If the speculator or developer sets the price too high, there would be no willing buyer. There would be no sale.

If you are exposed to all this you come to realize that despised "land speculators" are not the root evil of runaway land prices. They must be preceded by a market; that is, there must be people able and willing to pay as well as desirous of acquiring the property.

When the expert tells you, "There's no telling how much it is worth," he means he cannot tell just how eager people will be to buy, how able they are to pay.

THE REASON he cannot gauge this is because more people keep coming with more ability to pay and more desire to acquire.

And you end up staring California's population explosion right in the face—along with the growing affluence of our whole population.

In this atmosphere, a "land speculator" who buys and holds (that is, withholds from the market, shorting the supply) does contribute to higher prices.

But in the end it must be the eager buyer with ample funds who pays the speculator's hold-out price.

All of this adds up to a land boom, and that is what we have over almost the entire length and breadth of California.

Let us hope it is a genuine, solid boom and not just a bubble. Those of us who remember the "land poor" rich of the Great Depression don't want ever to see those days again.

A BOUQUET to the Rev. Thomas I. Kennedy on his return to Marin County as administrator of St. Raphael's Catholic Church. Former principal at Marin Catholic High School, he had been pastor at a church in Menlo Park since 1961.

A BOUQUET and welcome to Brig. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, who will take over command of the 28th Air Division at Hamilton Air Force Base in April.

A BOUQUET to Victor H. Rowe, who has served 21 years as teacher and counselor at Tamalpais High School. Rowe announced his retirement, effective in June.

A BOUQUET to the Sausalito Foundation for the long stretch of beautification along Bridgeway, mainly along the Marinship area, in planting 140 shrubs and 100 trees from Johnson to Wateree Streets.

BOUQUETS to the Flying Rifles of Hamilton Field, which will disband this month with a star-studded history of precision marching.

BOUQUETS to Marin carpenters, who traveled all the way to Mississippi to help rebuild burned out churches there.

A BOUQUET to the state highways for ironing out some of the wrinkles on Highway 101 in San Rafael, south of Puerto Suello Hill. It still isn't the best, but it's an improvement over last year.

A BOUQUET to the Golden Gate Bridge Board, especially Tom Hardcastle of Novato, for lowering bus tolls to keep bus commute fares down.

BOUQUETS to enterprising editors, Jay Schmid, 13; Steve Evans, 12, and Michael Evans, 7, for publishing the Sun Valley News in San Rafael.

COAST TO COAST ON A BICYCLE

An 80-year-old man bicycled from Philadelphia to San Francisco in 86 days.

The enterprising man, who pedalled 3,244 miles, said that he kept his strength up with the help of steaks and orange juice. The cross-country jaunt was his longest trip in eight years as a cyclist. He averaged 40 miles a day, but had ridden 109 miles one day and 111 on another.

"Most men of 60 sit down in the old rocking chair and rock themselves into the grave," he said upon reaching the Golden Gate Bridge. "But they could live 10 or 20 years longer if they'd take up bicycling."

Persons with big goals usually live longer and oftentimes more meaningful lives than those who lead an aimless, purposeless existence.

Set your sights high. Strive to leave the world better than you found it. Let your big aim be to imitate the Lord by enriching the lives of as many people as possible during your pilgrimage to heaven.

"Lift up your eyes and behold that the fields are already white for the harvest."

Build Bridge For Rapid Transit Only

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re your editorial last week on bridges.

Since, as you say, the Golden Gate Bridge would serve for many more years if it could carry rapid transit, the thought has come to me that it might be a good idea to build a bridge to carry rapid transit only. This would eliminate the need for highways and approaches leading to and from the bridge in San Francisco and Marin, and should cost much less than a bridge built to carry both rapid transit and vehicles. After all, San Francisco can absorb only so many cars regardless of how they get there.

Tam Unification Explanation Asked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that total unification of the Tamalpais Union High School District with the elementary districts will again be on the ballot, I am hopeful that the I-J will be able to present objective, factual and statistical information (as opposed to partisan arguments) in a series of columns before election day. The public needs this information in order to vote intelligently. Perhaps an I-J reporter could be assigned to dig out the facts, or else people in positions to have such information could present it in a series.

Questions such as these need answers: (1) What are the State laws that require unification (if any)? (2) What is the evidence that unification will or will not benefit Marin County schools? (3) What are the benefits or disadvantages of unification to each of the school districts involved? (4) Is unification going to help ease our de facto segregation situation? How? (5) How will unification affect property taxes? (6) What are the costs of unification as versus other alternatives or our present non-unified districting?

Since there is no highly organized committee working on presenting facts to the public (that I know about), the I-J is the one communications media to tackle this public service project.

Kentfield, Larkspur Fire Crews Thanked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We would appreciate the opportunity to extend our personal bouquet to the Kentfield Fire Department, and also the Larkspur Fire Department, which assisted in saving our home.

The speed and efficiency they displayed in preventing a total loss will never be forgotten. We feel that they went far beyond the call to duty in removing books, clothes and treasured possessions after the fire was controlled.

Our thanks also to the many people who turned in the alarm.

It is a rewarding experience to live in such a community.

California Indians Used Poison Oak

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your reporter Robert Coppock's comments on the positive values of poison oak were appreciated and the following background data may be of interest to those who appreciate the beauty of the plant despite its drawbacks.

The leaves were used by the Karok Indians of northwestern California to cover the bulbs of Soap Root while baking them in the earth oven for food. The Concow Indians of Marysville Buttes mixed the leaves into their acorn meal when baking bread, and other tribes used the leaves to wrap the meal during the baking. Poison oak twigs were used to spit salmon steaks while they were being smoked.

The juice from stems, leaves, or roots was used as a cure for warts. This juice was also used as a cure for ringworm. The fresh juice turns black quickly and was used in making an excellent black dye for basket materials. Some of the purest black strands in the baskets made by the Pomo Indians were dyed with this juice.

The full-blooded Indians seem to have been only slightly, or not at all, subject to the effects of this toxic plant.

It is increasingly clear we live in an effete age.

Flood Control Needs Recreation Provision

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Flood control, of course, for Corte Madera Creek! But, before the Army Corps of Engineers lines everything with concrete — how about those recreation facilities proposed by the Kentfield master plan?

Perhaps Supervisor Kettenhofen recalls the request for such a development by the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn. last fall. In particular, the plan included a pedestrian and bicycle trail from Ross to the Bay and possibly a park and community center near Bon Air bridge.

There must be many Marinites who like to walk for exercise and pleasure — or would love to be able to ride a bicycle in safety. How about using the natural beauty of our winding waterway as a readily accessible recreation area? Some of that state park bond money could well be used to this purpose.

Thanks For Job On Commute Fares

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I would say that "Bouquets" are due to Golden Gate Bridge Director Tom Hardcastle of Novato, who just about singlehandedly is responsible for saving every Marin bus commuter a 20 per cent increase in his cost of transportation.

It was Tom who conceived of the brilliant idea of reducing the bus toll from $1 to 13 cents per bus, and then successfully carried through this idea to the bridge Board of Directors. Reduction of the bus toll pretty well "pulled the rug from under" the Greyhound's request for an increase in commute fares, so I say that we all owe Director Hardcastle a vote of thanks for his fine representation of Marin County's interests.

Honeymoon Over For Johnson With Dilemma Of Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unhappy side of the presidency finally caught up with Lyndon B. Johnson, who had it fairly nice, coping with the predictable, in his first 14 months in the White House.

There had been some annoyances abroad but most of his time, talent, and tenacity were concentrated on problems at home, like winning an election, getting a civil rights bill passed, pushing through a tax cut.

THIS WAS WHERE he was an expert, after his long years in Washington. He had an acute sensitivity to politicians, understood the machinery of government, knew when to shift gears, throw switches, and turn the heat on.

Time was extraordinarily kind in allowing him so long a stretch in which to deal with what he knew best. No president since Franklin D. Roosevelt had such little critical trouble overseas in his first 14 months.

It couldn't last, and it didn't. Troube finally piled up on him when the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam attacked U.S. bases and shocked Americans into a vivid realization of what they were up against.

ANYONE PAYING attention to the news these past two years knew the American-backed war against the Communists was going to pot and that the guerrillas were taking over more and more of a country the United States was helping defend.

All this news was spread over many months and no single episode, until U.S. bases were hit in South Viet Nam, illustrated so well the developing disaster.

The whole wretched condition of the war became clear with the attacks and Johnson's retaliation by ordering the bombing of some North Vietnamese bases. Johnson was repeatedly urged to talk to the nation about it. He didn't.

IT ISN'T DIFFICULT to understand why he is reluctant to talk to the world directly on all this.

It might limit his freedom of maneuver in dealing with the Communists, now or later, and he may have reason, not clear now to outsiders, for thinking that just watchful waiting by itself is good medicine.

But Wednesday, U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, suggested the United States pull out of Viet Nam although he acknowledged, for American face-saving reasons, this could be done only after some kind of settlement.

AND THEN HE threw in a strange statement: "I am sure that the great American people, if only they know the true facts, will agree with me that further bloodshed is unnecessary."

What facts don't the American people know? He didn't say. Nor did he say anyone was withholding facts from them.

If the Unied States did try to pull out suddenly—Johnson has no such thought, judging from the stories coming out of Washington—it would be an admitted defeat, costing the United States influence in Asia and elsewhere.

NOR, ACCORDING to such stories, does Johnson think this is the time to talk negotiations with the Communists.

But Viet Nam, where American lives have been lost and billions of dollars spent if not wasted, is becoming topsy-turvy, with the generals competing for power among themselves and one government after another being overturned.

If this goes on much longer, Johnson will have a hard time convincing Americans this country should stay in Viet Nam to fight a war the Vietnamese are not fighting.

THIS IS HIS first major foreign affairs dilemma. He knows more about it than the rest of the country. Therefore, and since there has been no climax and no solution, neither his caution nor his silence should be criticized.

Sooner or later there will be the climax and how Johnson emerges from it will affect his leadership here and abroad.

It's no wonder he's watching his step.

BARKER ON CHINA

Here's How Chinese Measure Up To U.S.

RED CHINESE troops are allegedly massing on the border of North Viet Nam at this writing. A limited war with China over Viet Nam becomes a greater danger daily. We cannot ignore the possibility. Nor is it a happy one.

As demonstrated in Korea, China's masses of lightly armed men can overwhelm armies with superior equipment by sheer force of numbers. By relying on close combat and surprise, night attacks, she will have the advantage. Human sea attacks are hard to beat when they have such a numerical advantage and when we are spread so thin around the world. "Son, don't get bogged down in a land war in Asia," General MacArthur told Lyndon Johnson from his bed in Walter Reed Hospital.

COMPARED TO THE U.S., China would appear to be at a great disadvantage economically, but we must remember that men and not economics win wars. That the Chinese are conditioned to hardships which would seem unbearable to an American. And that their land army is probably better equipped now than it was in Korea.

Taking this into account, here are some figures which will permit some economic comparisons. If a war with China should occur, they would be important over a long haul. China, with over 700 million people, had a gross national product of only about $50 billion last year. The U.S., with 190 million people, had a GNP of $622 billion.

TAKE AGRICULTURE. Although China is much more dependent on grain as its diet, with a bit of meat as an uncommon luxury, she produced less than a fourth as much food grain per person than the U.S. And last year the weather was very kind to China.

On the industrial front: 10 million tons of steel for China, 127 million tons for the U.S.; oil — 51 million barrels for China, 2,676 million barrels for the U.S.; cement—53 million barrels for China, 352 million barrels for the U.S.; electric power — 135 billion kilowatt hours for China, 1,008 billion kilowatt hours for the U.S.

IN CHINA, crisscrossed by mountains and raging river gorges, transportation is a major headache. She has only 23,000 miles of railroad tracks and only 6,000 locomotives. Compare this to our 370,000 miles of tracks and 34,000 locomotives on our slightly smaller land area. All-weather highways are very few. China has only 200,000 trucks compared to our 14 million. Private autos and airplane transportation are virtually nil, comparatively speaking.

But let's not lull ourselves into thinking that China could not give us a hell of a fight, just because she is industrially weak. This mutual tweaking of the dragon's tail and pulling the eagle's tail feathers may lead to that fight.

Two Teen Girls Hurt In Crash

Two teen-aged Tamalpais Valley girls were hurt when their car went into a culvert and hit a pipe on Marin Drive a mile west of Marin Avenue in Tamalpais Valley at 7:10 p.m. yesterday.

The driver, Laura Ann Lacey, 17, of 467 Green Glen Way, said the car left the road after she dropped a cigarette and looked down for it.

She suffered a cut lower lip and lost a front tooth. Her passenger, Jeannette Potts, 15, of 550 Marin Avenue, suffered a nose injury, according to the California Highway Patrol.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Diuretic Is Cleared As Cause Of Ulcers In Lower Intestine

VAN DELLEN

Reactions to drugs vary considerably. This time a modern product causes ulcers of the lower part of the intestine. The story begins with the thiazide diuretics, one of the most effective remedies for dropsy. The chemical also is used in the treatment of hypertension, and as an aid in losing weight. It encourages elimination of the water that forms when excess fat is burned up as energy.

THESE PRODUCTS are safe and efficient. They stimulate the kidneys to filter out more of the sodium ion (sodium chloride is salt) that holds fluids in the tissues. But it is difficult to eliminate one chemical without removing others and, in this case, potassium (Q) is lost along with the sodium (Na). A deficiency of K leads to weakness and is overcome by eating foods rich in the chemical or by taking potassium chloride tablets. However, K irritates the lining of the stomach and must be enveloped in a hard capsule or shell (enteric coated) that does not dissolve until it passes through the gastric pouch. Some manufacturers combine K and the thiazide in a single enteric-coated tablet.

SEVERAL MONTHS ago there was a striking increase in the number of individuals with ulcers and narrowing of the lower intestine. The ulcers ruptured in some, leading to peritonitis. Further investigation showed all were taking thiazide and potassium in enteric-coated tablets. None were reported among those taking thiazide without K. This incriminated the enteric-coated potassium chloride. The chemical was released in a small segment of the intestine after the outer shell was dissolved. It is logical to assume that if it irritates the lining of the stomach, it will do the same in the intestines.

More than 140 cases, including four deaths, have been reported to the Food and Drug Administration. Physicians breathed a sigh of relief when the diuretic was exonerated because it is a valuable remedy. Hereafter, potassium will be taken in food or in drops as a saturated potassium iodide solution.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

MULTIPLE COLDS

Mrs. L. writes: My 2-year-old grandson gets one cold after another. He is hardly over one when the next comes along. Is he likely to develop rheumatic fever from so many colds?

REPLY

Colds are common at this age and his experience is par for the course. Time will tell whether he is likely to develop rheumatic fever.

INFLAMED COLON

D. B. writes: Is dieting the best treatment for colitis?

REPLY

A bland diet helps because it leaves little residue, giving the bowel a rest. But diet is not the sole treatment because there are various types of colitis (spastic, baceterial, and influenzal) each requiring specific care.

HORMONES AND YOUTH

F. L. writes: Is it dangerous for a 75-year-old woman to take a hormone shot once a week to make her feel young again?

REPLY

Not dangerous unless she has a malignancy of the breast or reproductive organs. These hormones are not the waters from the Fountain of Youth.

Today is Saturday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1965 with 307 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase. The morning star is Mars. The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

Contralto Marian Anderson was born on this day in 1903.

On this day in history:

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln made his first speech in the east, discussing slavery at Cooper Union College in New York City.

In 1939, the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed "sit - down" strikes.

In 1942, the battle of the Java Sea began. It was won by the Japanese, who sank 13 warships compared to a loss of two in their navy.

A Thought for the Day — Abraham Lincoln said: "While the people retain their virtue and vigilance, no administration, by any extreme of wickedness or folly, can very seriously injure the government in the short space of four years."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light - face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Earnest Reader Urges Bounty On Kibitzers

"Wouldn't life be far happier without kibitzers?" asks Earnest Reader. "Why doesn't the government declare open season on kibitzers, with a modest bounty for their scalps?"

A shocking suggestion, Earnest, and smack in the middle of National Kibitzer's Week! Without kibitzers we might have no conscience at all.

Opening lead — ♠ J

South took the ace of spades and the queen of diamonds, then led a spade to dummy to continue the diamonds. South moaned when West discarded on the ace of diamonds but continued with the king of diamonds.

NEXT FINESSE

Declarer next finessed with the jack of clubs to West's queen. West led a spade to the queen, and East collected a diamond trick before returning a spade.

The defenders thus defeated the contract with three spades, one diamond, and one club.

South got sympathy for his bad luck until an alert kibitzer spoke up. "Butchery," the alert gent snorted. "You threw it away twice."

QUITE RIGHT

The kibitzer was right. At the second trick South should overtake the queen of diamonds with dummy's king and continue with the ace.

If both opponents follow suit, declarer can give up one diamond and be sure of ten tricks.

When diamonds fail to break, declarer finesses with the jack of clubs. Since the clubs break well, South gets ten tricks anyway.

MUST SWITCH

Even as he played the hand South could still make the game if he abandoned diamonds before taking the king. He must switch to clubs, finessing with the jack.

The defenders can take three spades and one club, but they do not get a diamond trick and South still gets nine tricks when the clubs come in.

We all need kibitzers to tell us when we make a bad bid or a bad play. Without kitibzers we might make the mistake of thinking that we were put in this world to enjoy ourselves.

Bye-Bye Title! Tars Lose 3d Straight

What little chances College of Marin's Tars had in the Golden Valley Conference chase are just about dead.

Marin lost its third straight game last night when Siskiyous topped the Tars 75-72 in Weed. The Tars, who face Shasta Junior College tonight in Redding, now have a 7-3 record in GVC action, two full games behind Santa Rosa (9-1).

Marin had won 18 straight games before Santa Rosa beat the Mariners eight days ago. The next night Sierra thumped the Tars, and last night it was Siskiyous' turn. And it was the same story in all three losses—no fast break, the bread and butter of Marin's offense.

Marin led through most of the first half of last night's game but then Siskiyous caught up and went ahead, 39-37 at intermission. The remainder of the game was close. All in all, the lead changed hands 21 times throughout the game.

With four minutes left, it was tied 64-64. Then Siskiyous outscored Marin 7-2 in the next minute and one-half to build up a 71-66 lead. Marin never made up the lost ground.

Guard Jay Johnson made his first free throw attempt to stretch his consecutive string to 23. But then he missed his next two, ending up 2 for 4 from the line. Going into the game, he had meshed 53 out of 57 free throws for a blistering 93 per cent. When he goes to the charity line, watch out!

Foul trouble plagued Marin early in the game. Within five minutes, center Jim Halm had three, and one minute later guard Paul Gockel had three. By the time the first half was over, 6-7 forward Fred Arnold had four fouls. Halm was the only Tar to foul out, but the other boys in foul trouble sat out much of their needed time in the game.

Larry Wolfe, who played for Helm because of all the penalties assessed on the 6-7 center, snagged 15 rebounds and hit 10 points in a fine reserve performance.

Leading the Marin scoring, Rod Monti had 17 points, Johnson 16 and Bill Brody 14. Barry Hachmyer, the guard who was to replace departed Brad Busch in the lineup, played only about a minute because of a shoulder injury suffered in a fight a couple of weeks ago.

Bill Duchi led the Siskiyous scoring with 20 points.

Marin hit only 31 per cent from the floor, and the Eagles hit 33 per cent. Siskiyous had the slight edge in rebounding, 65-64. But the absence of the fast moving guard to help out Johnson caused Marin's fast break to sputter.

SANTA ROSA CINCHES TIE FOR CAGE TITLE

Santa Rosa Bear Cubs clinched a tie for the Golden Valley Conference basketball championship last night by smashing the Yuba College 49ers, 91-48 while the second place College of Marin Tars were losing to Siskiyous.

Santa Rosa can wrap up the undisputed title tonight with a victory over Napa. The Bear Cubs, who started Marin on a three-game losing streak last Friday, are now 9-1 in league and Marin 7-3. Each team has two games remaining, so the best Marin can hope for is a tie for the title.

Thirteen Bear Cubs hit the scoring column in last night's romp, led by Tom Stewart with 21 points and Mike Francis with 16.

12,850 Dazzled By Record Show

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sprinter Darel Newman equalled a world dash record, Australia's Ron Clarke whipped his Olympic conqueror, Russians captured three first places and the son of a former football hero soared higher than any American has indoors.

All happened last night in the record-shattering performance of the Golden Gate Invitational Indoor Track Meet before 12,850 at the Cow Palace.

Newman, a 21-year-old Fresno State College senior who stands 5-feet-9, put those numbers together in speedy fashion — 5.9 seconds for the 60-yard dash.

His time matched the world record set last year by Olympian Bob Hayes and equalled this season by Fordham's Sam Perry.

"I hope to beat Perry in the NCAA Indoor Championships at Detroit," said Newman.

Clarke failed to get the record he went after in the two-mile, but it seemed obvious afterwards that he much preferred beating U.S. Marine Billy Mills in this race.

Mills had upset the Aussie and won the Gold Medal in the Olympics at Tokyo last October in the 10,000 meter distance. This was the first time they had met since.

Clarke won by 35 yards or so in 8:34.7. Asked whether he knew he had passed the one-mile mark at 4:19, relatively slow in the assault on Jim Beatty's 8:30.8 record, Clarke replied:

"I knew I was 4:19 because I heard it, but I was much more concerned about what Billy was doing in back of me."

AMERICAN RECORD

Mel Hein Jr., whose father starred on the collegiate and professional gridirons, cleared 16-5¾ in the pole vault for a new American indoor record.

He missed three times at 16-9 trying to do better than Penitti Nikula did in his native Finland two years ago.

Clarke, Hein and Ralph Boston are scheduled to compete tonight in the Mason-Dixon Games at Louisville, but Boston won't have another chance this winter to square accounts with Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan.

Igor outjumped Boston for the second straight week with a 26-4 effort to 25-7¼ for his American rival, and this was the final United States meet for the Russian team.

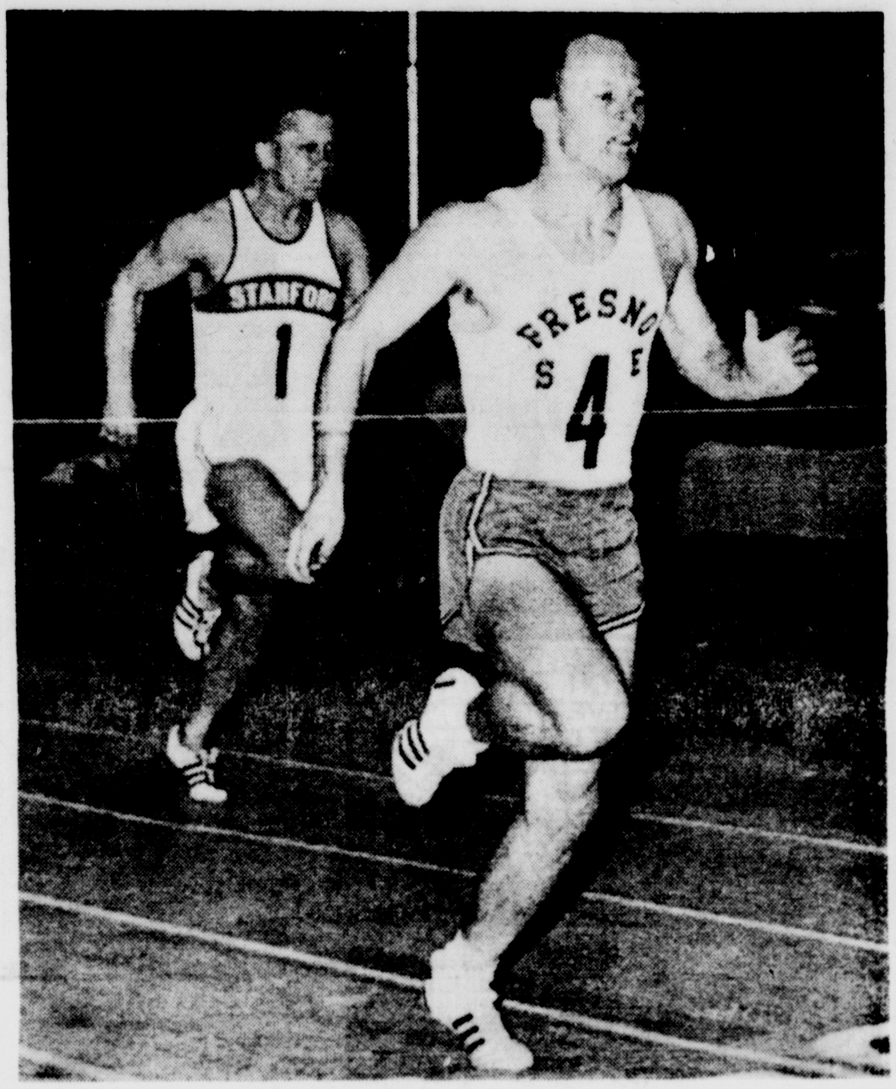
World record holder Valery Brumel of the Soviet squad captured the high jump but only on the basis of fewer misses. He cleared an even seven feet as did Otis Burrell of Nevada and Ed Carruthers of Santa Ana, Calif., Junior College.

Tamara Press, the only gal with the Russians, put the nine-pound shot 57-8, farthest ever for a woman indoors. Her nearest rival effort was 18 feet shorter.

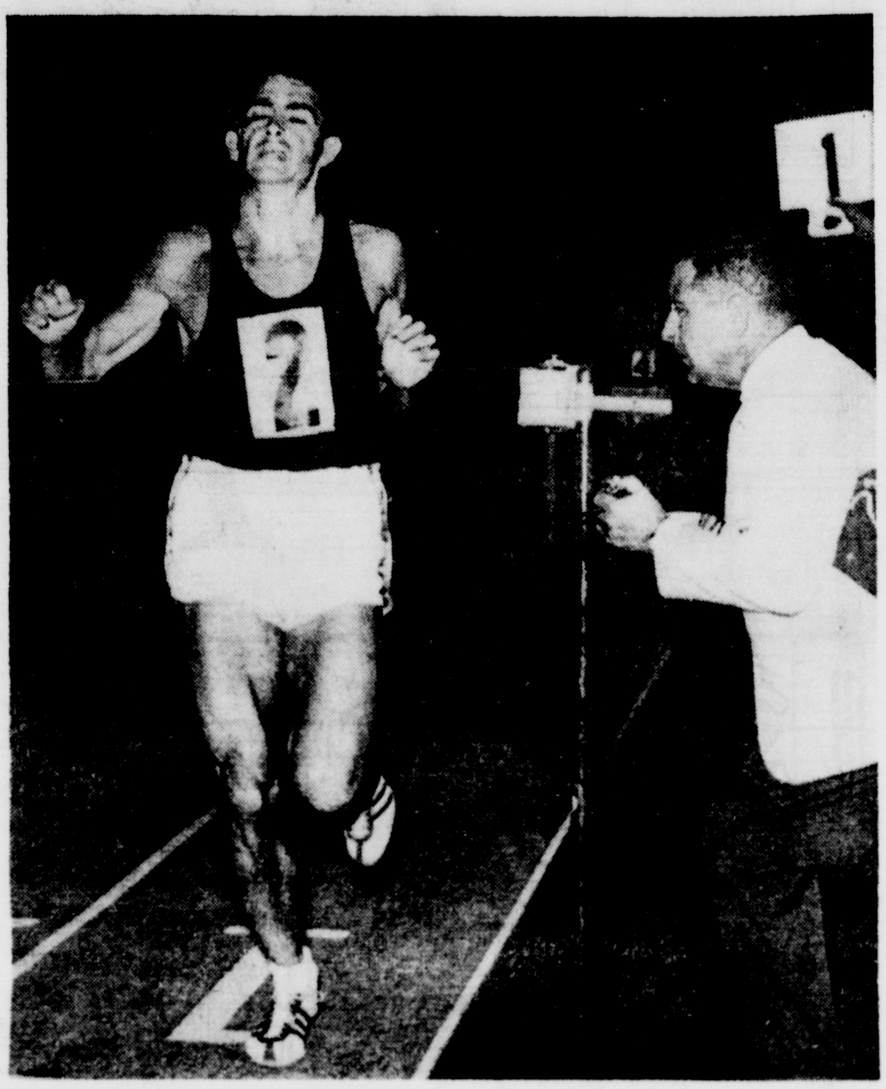
STANFORD CHAMP

In the seldom-run 160-yard dash, Larry Questad of Stanford, the 1963 NCAA champion at 100 yards, ran the best ever indoors with a 16.5. His mark erased a pending world standard-ard of 16.8 by Bill Toomey of Pasadena, Calif. Another 16.8 brought Toomey second place.

Willowy Iolanda Balas of Rumania provided foreigners another first place clearing 5-11 in the women's high jump, the best a woman has done in the United States although Miss Balas has jumped higher both indoors and outdoors.



EQUALS RECORD—Darel Newman of Fresno State wins 60-yard dash in world record equalling time of 5.9 seconds at Cow Palace last night. Eric Frische of Stanford trails.



EASY WINNER — Ron Clarke of Australia was well in front at the finish as he easily won the two-mile event over Olympic champ Bill Mills.

UCLA Romps; USF Shocked By Pacific

By MICHAEL HUDSON
UPI Sports Writer

If the test of a great basketball team is whether it can win on the road, UCLA has passed the test with an "A" grade while the San Francisco Dons flunked out.

Both teams are just about certain to sew up their conference championships today since they both hold three-game leads with three games to go.

But UCLA is doing it in style and more and more looks like the team that will represent the West in the NCAA basketball tourney.

The Bruins last night humiliated a good Stanford team in the Indians' gym by piling up a 46-18 halftime bulge and then coasting home to an 83-67 decision.

It ran the nationally second-ranked UCLA to 11-0 in Pacific Athletic Conference play and the Bruins can take it all this afternoon (in a televised game) against California.

All America Gail Goodrich hit 24 for the Bruins while Bob Bedell was about Stanford's only solid performer as he hooped 18.

Meanwhile, USF tried to sew things up at Stockton and found it had a University of Pacific Tiger by the tail.

The evenly-matched game found the score 65-all with two minutes to go when Pacific went into a stall. With eight seconds to go, Bobby Krulish shot and missed. But he followed it up and stuffed home the rebound for a 67-65 win.

Joe Ellis and Ollie Johnson tallied 19 and 18 for the Dons and Joe Kelley and Keith Swagerty hooped 15 apiece for the losers. It was the Dons' first conference loss after 25 straight wins. USF hosts St. Mary's tonight and the nationally 11th ranked Dons just don't seem to lose on their home court.

In other PAC tiffs Friday Southern California made it 8-3 with a 68-67 squeaker over California. Dan Wolthers had 23 for the losers. Jim Jarvis dumped in 30 as the Beavers breezed past Washington State, 66-51. A tip-in by Washington's Gordon Harris with three seconds to go sent the Oregon-Washington game into overtime and the Huskies went on to win it, 82-76. Harris got 22 and Jim Barnett of the Ducks 24.

Bob Stuckey's five-footer at the buzzer gave Santa Clara a 67-66 win over St. Mary's in a typical battle between these two old WCAC rivals. Stuckey led the winners with 19.

Tonight it's USC at Stanford, Washington at Oregon State, Santa Clara at Pacific, Pepperdine at San Jose State, Loyola at Santa Barbara.

Sam Snead Trails In Seniors Golf

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI) — Dick Shoemaker waited until he was 54 to play his best opening round in a major golf tournament and it put him two strokes in front for today's second round of the $40,000 PGA Seniors championship.

"Don't worry about me, I'll get back to my regular game today," Shoemaker joked. His first round was a fine four-under-par 68.

There was a star-studded field pressing him and some of the oldsters — you have to be past 50 to play in this classic —were looking hopefully for dying winds and a warmer sun. Yesterday's opening round was played in 50 degree temperatures and winds up to 30 miles per hour.

Sam Snead, the feared defending champion who fired a 66 in practice, complained the chills stiffened his 53-year-old bones and caused him to top his iron shot approaches.

The crafty West Virginian, however, managed to put together a creditable 71 for a good third place tie with five others.

Ahead of Snead were three skillful veterans with 70s. They were Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif., winner of the Teachers Seniors title in 1961 and 1962, Errie Ball and Henry Ransom, who is now a Texas rancher and golf coach at Texas A&M.

Kopay To Assist Prothro At UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former University of Washington back Tony Kopay is the final addition to the staff of Tommy Prothro, UCLA's new head football coach.

Kopay, 25, has been coaching at Crespi High in Encino, Calif., the past two years. His team tied for the league championship last fall.

Kopay was a halfback and fullback at Washington in 1960-61.

Prothro said Friday his new assistant will work mainly with freshman players but will also have some varsity duties.

Kopay, who lives in North Hollywood, is a brother of the San Francisco 49ers Dave Kopay, also a former University of Washington halfback. A third brother, Gary, is a junior at UCLA.

JACOBS NAMED DIRECTOR OF SHRINE GAME

Albert H. Jacobs has been promoted to managing director of the Islam Temple Shrine East-West football game.

Jacobs was assistant to William M. Coffman who resigned from the directors post after 40 years.

Jacobs is vice chairman of the board of governors of the San Francisco Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

McLaren Defeats World Champion

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, driving a Cooper Climax, beat former world driving champion Jack Brabham of Australia in a 45-mile duel to day and won the Tasmanian road racing championship.

The race over the 4½ mile road circuit at Longford, was a tune-up for Monday's Australian Grand Prix.

McLaren, with a time of 23:43.7 and an average speed of 113.74 miles an hour, and Brabham, with 23:44.5, both beat Brabham's 1962 record for the course. Graham Hill of Britain finished third. Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., came in eighth.

Celts Rip Warriors, Cinch Title, Seek Win Mark Next

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Bostoner might argue that the Boston Celtics aren't the New York Yankees of basketball but that the Yanks are the Boston Celtics of baseball.

The Celtics, after all, wrapped up their ninth straight National Basketball Association Eastern Division title last night and are pointing for their eighth consecutive NBA championship.

That's the basketball equivalent of winning the pennant nine times in a row and shooting for eight straight World Series championships.

"We always get a big kick out of it!" exclaimed Coach Red Auerbach after his Celtics ran over the San Francisco Warriors 130-112 in last night's title-cinching game.

"We thought we should win the title after our big lead at the start of the season," Auerbach continued.

"I'd say that through the years, this is the best defensive team we've had—and as an all-around team, it's either the best or close to the best. I'll know more after the playoffs," Auerbach said.

In the title-winning game the Celtics coasted to an 18 point victory despite playing reserves the entire second quarter. Sam Jones led Boston scoring with 26 points.

The Warriors, who led once 81-77, were paced by guard Gary Phillips with 23 points and center Nate Thurmond with 21.

The victory advanced Boston to a 56-13 season mark and prompted Auerbach to remark "we're going for the league record of 60 wins in a season."

With 11 games left, Auerbach said he figured the Celtics have a good chance to break the victory record.

"But it's not an important record," he said. "The important thing is to win."

Boston now leads second-place Cincinnati by 14 games in the Eastern Division.

Los Angeles took a five-game lead in the Western Division by beating second-place St. Louis 106-90. The Hawks lost a 50-48 halftime lead by scoring just 18 points to the Lakers' 31 in the third quarter.

Elgin Baylor scored 14 of his game-high 34 points in the Lakers' third quarter spurt. Jerry West added 28. Six Hawks scored in double figures, including 15 each by Len Wilkens and Zelmo Beaty.

Giants Top Wildcats; Tournament Play Next

Rolling up its 12th straight triumph, champion Redwood closed out its regular league season last night with a 55-51 victory over Marin Catholic on the Redwood court.

The Giants ended the Marin Athletic League slate with a 11-1 record, four full games ahead of co-runners-up San Rafael and Drake. Because of its victory string, there was no let down for the Giants who clinched the championship a week ago yesterday.

Last night's game was a close one, with Redwood holding a slim 27-26 lead at half. With only 50 seconds left, the Giants were ahead by two points and went into a stall. Marin purposely drew fouls in hopes of getting the ball back, but it didn't work. Redwood's Don Detrick made four of four free throws and Tom Bly two of two, all in those final 50 seconds, to ice the game.

High scorer for the champs was Bruce McGee, a replacement for Chuck Meyer who sat out the game with a sore ankle. McGee arose to the starting assignment and scored 16 points, one more than teammate Bly. McGee made 8 of 12 shots for 67 per cent. Redwood as a team hit 67 per cent. Bill Shine led the Marin attack with 21 points.

Next on the slate for Redwood are two tournaments. It's the Gridley Invitational next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, followed by the Tournament of Champions the following week in Berkeley.

Both coaches emptied the bench in this final game of the year. San Rafael displayed a good defense while racking up all those 75 points.

Ash Wednesday Marks Opening Of Solemn Lent

Most Churches Set Extra Rites

Next Wednesday will be Ash Wednesday—the first day of Lent and the first of 40 days of solemn contemplation of the suffering of Jesus Christ and for what purpose He underwent the sacrifice.

Until Easter Sunday, Christians of all denominations will practice contemplation, prayer, and often fasting and giving voluntary sacrifices.

Theme of the annual appeal will be, "Christ has no Hands but Yours."

Many Marin churches will be following a heavier schedule of services than during the rest of year. Among these is Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

(the relation of Christians to those of other religions or no religion); March 17, "Does the Individual Count Any More?" (the Christian concern for a person's individual worth).

Bishop James W. Henley, who has episcopal responsibility for Methodist work in Cuba, said the report came from a district superintendent at the recent annual Cuba Conference.

Bishop Henley had visited Cuba twice in the last four years but was unable to get his papers cleared in itme to attend the conference.

The report showed a budget of $131,280 was adopted for the new church year and that eight new pastors, including three women, were admitted into full ministerial status.

NEW YORK (UPI)—"Peace on Earth" is the name and theme of an unusual exhibition, at the Hallmark Gallery in New York City, of photographs and textual material taken from famous encyclical letters of the late Pope John XXIII to "men of good will."

'I wonder as I wander'

'Wanderer' To Take Pulpit Wednesdays

The Rev. Theodore A. Gill, president of San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo will preach a series of sermons on five Wednesday evenings during Lent in First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo, beginning at 8 p.m. on Ash Wednesday.

Dr. Gill, who has traveled hundreds of thousands of miles on behalf of the Seminary and his committee assignments for the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., is using his travels as a springboard for his sermons.

He has entitled the series: "I Wonder as I Wander, Reflections of a Journeyman Preacher," taking as the subject of each meditation a city he has visited in the recent past.

They are: March 3, "Istanbul, The New Iconoclasm"; March 10, "Flossburgh, Theology in Another Key"; March 17, "New Delhi, Shifting Realities"; March 24, "Sao Paulo, An Inside-Out Church"; and April 7, "Frankfurt, God's Antic Spirit."

Each of the 8 p.m. services is public.

Church Youth Won't Quit After Flood

During 1964's Easter vacation, members of the senior high school group at San Rafael's First Presbyterian Church journeyed to Meyer's Flat, near Lake Tahoe, to repair an old, small church.

The edifice was destroyed in the recent Christmas week floods.

"Rather than give up, we are going up again this Easter and build a new church on higher ground," reported youth group member Gene Hallman.

"At least we had the satisfaction of knowing the old church had been used well by the community for nine months," he added.

Funds for the expedition are being raised through bake sales and dances.

Church Obligation In Politics Stressed

NEW YORK (UPI) — The church has an obligation to speak and act where political issues involve moral and human values, says the New York State Council of Churches in its Statement of Legislative Principles for 1965, which highlighted the civil rights problem.

"We are disturbed by the fact that in most cases churches and other religious organizations, private clubs and nonprofit organizations are exempt from anti-discrimination provisions of the law," the document says.

NEW EDIFICE READY

Universities Bid Center Farewell

Tomorrow's service of the Unitarian-Universalist Church of Marin will mark the congregation's last worship in its longtime home—the Tamalpais Center Women's Club in Kentfield.

The following Sunday, the services will mark the debut of the congregation's new church building off Professional Center Parkway at Channing Drive, San Rafael.

Featured in the 11 a.m. services tomorrow will be minstrel Malvina Reynolds, creator of the recent hit song "Little Boxes." She calls her sermon in song "This Guitar Fights Injustice," according to Res. Karel F. Botermans, pastor.

Donations tomorrow will be earmarked for the denomination's Freedom Fund, set up a year ago to bolster civil rights work in the South and elsewhere, Rev. Botermans said.

The congregation met after the worship service last Sunday to hear the annual auditor's report, and to decide whether the new church should be called a "community center." No decision was reached. "It was felt that far more communication was needed on the subject and that, anyway, what went on in the building was far more important than what it was called."

Junior high members of the church will attend 9:30 a.m. Mass in St. Raphael's Church tomorrow, and afterwards will be guided on a tour through the historic mission by a priest.

Monthly meeting of the Women's alliance will be at noon Monday in the new church.

Interracial Visitations To Be Held

Two Presbyterian congregations and a Catholic parish are joining hands in reviving a program of lay members' personal encounters with members of other races, through the "home visiting program" originated by Friendship House in Chicago.

Participants from St. Isabella's Parish, Terra Linda, Christ Presbyterian Church, Terra Linda, and St. Andrew Presbyterian Church, which jointly serves Marin City and Mill Valley, will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Howell, 34 Buckelew Street, Marin City, at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lowe of Terra Linda recently hosted a planning session for the visit program; those attending included Messrs. and Mesdms. Glenn Dryslin, Perry Howell, James Quiett, Stanley Narassand, Charles Larkin, Barry Watkinson, Edward Kessel, Herb Mooney, Julius Gebhard and Mrs. Martin O'Brien.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Interest in the observance of the annual Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, which was held Jan. 18-25, is growing in the United States, according to the Rev. William A. Norgren, head of the Faith and Order Department of the National Council of Churches.

Rev. Norgren noted that distribution of leaflets used in the observance has jumped from 60,000 two years ago to an estimated 200,000 this year.

World Day Of Prayer Worship Services Set

World Day of Prayer services will be held at 1 p.m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, under the auspices of the Southern Marin County World Day of Prayer and the committee of United Church Women.

Dr. K. Filmore Gray, former Mill Valley minister, will be speaker for the special observance of the 79th annual worldwide prayer for the special observance of the 79th annual worldwide prayer day. He is minister of the Temple Methodist Church in San Francisco, and for 17 years after leaving Mill Valley was pastor at the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel.

The prayer service is open to the public, according to Mrs. Milton Stannard, chairman of the sponsoring group.

Uniting six continents and more than 125 nations, this first Friday of the Lenten season has been set aside as a time for prayers for peace and brotherhood on the theme, "What Doth the Lord Require."

"In a world beset by the agony of rebirth where acceleration, overkill, and segregation are a cold reality, this service of the World Day of Prayer consisting of familiar passages from the Old and New Testaments entwined with hymns and prayer will offer each participant the warmth of fellowship through Jesus Christ which transcends all barriers," Mrs. Stannard said.

Assisting Mrs. Stannard, of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon, are Mrs. J. Benton Bostick, also of Westminster Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Phillip Strick, First Methodist Church, San Rafael.

DUE IN SAUSALITO—Jean Needham, veteran member of The Bishop's Company, will portray Joan of Arc on the stage of the Campbell Hall at Christ Episcopal Church Friday evening.

Far-Travelling Stage Group To Perform In Sausalito Hall

The Bishop's Company, nationally-known dramatic group that stages plays in churches of all denominations, will bring its version of George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" to the stage of Campbell Hall at Christ Episcopal Church, Sausalito, at 8 p.m. Friday.

The troupe has presented "Saint Joan" or other religious-oriented dramas in its repertory for 12 years, visiting more than 6,000 churches doing 22 national tours. Shaw's story is a moving interpretation of the great tale of Joan of Arc, French farm girl who heard voices giving Commands from God, became leader of an army of liberation, and eventually was martyred on the fiery stake.

The Bishop's Company, founded in Burbank by actress Phyllis Beardsley Bokar, also is widely known for its presentations of "Cry, the Beloved Country," "The Devil and Daniel Webster," "Our Town," and "The Diary of Anne Frank."

Reservations for Friday's single performance are available through Mrs. E. L. Hansen, 120 Bulkley Avenue or Mrs. P. L. Fish Jr., 63 Sunshine Avenue, both Sausalito.

The Country Caper
From the unusual entry courtyard designed by Herman Hein to the large, fenced back yard, this family planned home can provide a perfect setting for you and your brood. The family room, 1 bedroom and a bath are on the lower floor. (You have in-laws?) The upper entry floor has 3 large bedrooms and 2 baths, a step-down living room, dining room floored in treated cork, which looks luxurious but is fine for ignoring the kid's spills. And for mother's ease, the laundry facilities are off the bedroom hall, where most of the dirty clothes are produced. The house is 6 years old and the planting shows it — it's mature instead of tiny things in acres of bare earth which take daily care. If you are looking for a fine family home, this is it — and it's priced at just $36,900. Come by our office tomorrow and we'll take you to see it.

DEXTER RAMBLERLAND

CHIEF COWPOKE
GEORGE DEXTER SEZ:

"We knew it could be done! Last weekend we threw the gates open and our old corral was really buzzing. Our Burro had the company of a Honda, an old washing machine, and a slightly used bearskin rug. We'll take ANYTHING in trade (no in-laws please)"

FOR EXAMPLE:

After 1 week of fighting with our burro, this little number has got to go!

'64 Cadillac Cpe . . The Works

'63 Ramblr Ambass Wag Fact air

'65 Rambler Demos Fully equip't
Low mileage and lots of new car warranty yet.

'63 Renault Caravelle h.t. 4-spd
Rather cute . . . Frenchmen will love this one.

'59 Ford Wagon . . . Loaded
The only thing this needs is a home.

'63 Chevrolet Wagon . . Power
Factory air cond. Real clean . . . almost too nice for the ranch.

Youth's Own Music

Rock 'n' Roll Is Stronger Than Ever

By DON KEOWN

"The main reason we play rock 'n' roll is because that is what everybody wants these days," says Rob Moitoza of the Opposite Six.

But the 19-year-old bandleader adds: "We love rock 'n' roll ourselves. We wouldn't play it if we didn't enjoy it."

And play it they do — with vim and enthusiasm.

The Opposite Six are one of several youthful bands that have sprung up in Marin in recent years to specialize in big beat music.

"BUT MOST OF the others are non-union," Rob says. "We are union."

And the Opposite Six can also claim the distinction of having recorded.

Their single record of "All Night Long" and "Come Straight Home," both original compositions of members of the group, is out on the Dot Records label. And the young musicians are keeping their fingers crossed, hoping that lightning will strike and give them a big hit, but realizing that the odds are heavily against them.

"THE RECORD will have to sell in the thousands for us to make any real money off it," Rob says.

"But," he adds, "our agent tells us that the record is already enjoying a good reception in Paris."

Meanwhile, the Opposite Six are keeping busy with dance engagements.

The small band is the out-

THE ORIGINAL Opposite Six appear in their customary natty performance costumes in this publicity photo. The Marin rock 'n' rollers disdain the sloppy effect courted by some rhythm and blues groups.

Rock 'n' Roll Music Is Still Going Strong

And So Is Marin's Young The Opposite Six Band

growth, Rob says, of several predecessor groups.

MOITOZA HIMSELF was with the Chord Lords before the formation of the Opposite Six.

"And all the other fellows had played in other groups or bands before we got together," Moitoza says.

The "other fellows" are:

Tim Cain of San Anselmo, 18, tenor and alto sax, a San Francisco State music student.

RON ARNSMEYER of San Francisco, 23, also tenor and alto sax, an IBM employee.

Dick Rogers of Sausalito, 18, drums, a College of Marin student.

Don Irving of Mill Valley, 18, electric guitar, a pupil at Tamalpais High School.

And Bill Champlin of San Anselmo, 17, electric organ and piano, also still a high school student.

MOITOZA, who plays the electric bass, attends the College of Marin where he studies art and music. He is a member of a well-known Mill Valley musical family, the Frank Moitozas Jr., who have been featured in earlier stories in the Independent-Journal.

All except Ron Arnsmeyer are original members of the Opposite Six. He replaced John Leones of San Rafael, who dropped out of the band for a full-time job to help finance his college education.

Moitoza says the group "just sort of drifted together" two years ago.

"We just thought we might have some potential," he adds.

THE FIRST practice jam was held at the Rogers home in Sausalito.

"We didn't sound too good at the start," Moitoza admits. "But we still thought we had possibilities." So they struck it out.

Moitoza confesses, however, that early in the going he was giving serious thought to abandoning the project.

"Things just weren't clicking, and then, all of a sudden, the picture changed, and we were playing and singing well together," he relates.

NOW, SAYS Moitoza, "we have improved so much that we are really a different bunch from the band that played for our first dance." That first dance was for the Sausalito Teen Club in the Sausalito Woman's Club building.

At first, the band was a long time between jobs. And almost all the engagements were for teen clubs.

Now, however, there is a greater and more varied demand for the services of the band, although, Moitoza adds, "dance music is still an up-and-down business."

AT JUNIOR proms, senior balls and other appropriate occasions, the Opposite Six shifts from its standard rock 'n' roll fare to swing and ballads.

But generally, rock 'n' roll predominates at an Opposite Six dance or concert. "And the kids love it," says Moitoza.

Moitoza says that about one-third of the songs played by the group are their own original arrangements or compositions.

ALL SIX ARE involved in the arranging and composing. Moitoza himself was responsible for the recorded song, "All Night Long," while Champlin wrote the companion piece, "Come Straight Home."

Is rock 'n' roll on the decline?

Not by a long shot, says Moitoza.

"There may have been a drop in interest about five years ago," he says. "But it has come back as strong as ever."

AND MOITOZA, for one, does not think that rock 'n' roll will die out.

"It will evolve into new and different forms," he declares. "But it won't die."

Moitoza says the evolutionary process has already occurred in rock 'n' roll. "Listen to one of Elvis Presley's early records. Then to one of the Beatles' tunes. There's a lot of difference. And yet they are both rock 'n' roll."

Moitoza credits the Beatles with the major role in triggering the comeback of big beat music.

"I LIKE THE Beatles," he says. "They are one of the few British bands that are any good. Most of the rest of them are just trying to capitalize on the ability and popularity of the Beatles."

Moitoza also frowns on the use of gimmicks.

"That sloppy business, in particular, just doesn't go with us," he says. "When playing an engagement, we wear blue silk coats, gray slacks, white shirts

IN MORE informal attire, the Opposite Six holds a rehearsal at Rob Moitoza's home and do a bit of spirited jamming. Grouped around drummer Dick Rogers are, left to right, Moitoza (leader of the group), Ron Arnsmeyer, Tim Cain, Bill Champlin and Don Irving. They are all vocalists as well as instrumentalists. Stereo Hi-Fi

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

PORTABLE STEREO PHONOGRAPHS are now available in two basic types. One type consists of a small amplifier, an inexpensive record changer, and two small speakers mounted in small boxes. The prices of these units range from about $60.00 tp $200.00. As for performance, the sound is usually extremely poor. There is a great deal of distortion, a complete lack of bass tones, and vibration and rattle of the speakers at louder volumes. Some of these units may even be advertised as Hi-Fi. The record changer is generally rather hard on records. At best, these portable phonographs compare in sound with the small table model AM radio sets. The music from a quality stereo LP record is only partially reproduced.

The second type of portable phonograph is a comparatively new entry in the sound field. Primarily, this portable phonograph is designed to provide sound approaching that of a large console. This is accomplished by using a high quality changer, a diamond tipped stereo cartridge of the latest full range response, a built-in transistorized amplifier with a fairly high power rating for a portable, and two speaker systems of new design capable of providing the full range of sound from low bass to the brilliant highs. One of the secrets of the full range operation of these portables is in the design of the amplifier speaker team. Since the smaller speaker systems tend to be deficient in the low bass range, the amplifiers are designed to add the exact amount of bass compensation to make the overall sound extend smoothly down to the low tones.

The loudspeaker systems of the quality portable systems are of unusual design. Each speaker system generally consists of one or two small full range speakers with an unusually high magnet weight for the size of the speaker. Although the speakers are small, they are made to have a large movement, thus acting as a piston to move air and create sound. The speaker compartments are fully inclosed and properly filled with foamy material, or padded.

By matching the output sound curve of the amplifier with frequency contouring networks that match precisely the low frequency requirements of the speakers, perfect integration is achieved.

One portable that meets these high standards is the KLH Model 11. Just 28 pounds of revolutionary stereophonic sound for only $199.00.

THIS PARTICULAR RECORD receives loving care from the Oppoite Six as they place it on the turntable. It's their own single disc, just recorded and issued on the Dot label. Both tunes, "All Night Long" on one side, "Come Straight Home" on the other, are original compositions by Opposite Six members. It represents their first recording.

Opposite Six Are Devoted To Rock 'n' Roll

and black ties. We try to make a neat appearance."

Young Marinites, he adds, have become more discriminating in their rock 'n' roll tastes.

"THIS IS because so many big names in rock 'n' roll have been appearing in the county," he says. "Artists like Dick and DeeDee and the Ventures have won big followings here. Of course, this is strong Beatle country. And the Righteous Brothers are tops right now, as they are across the nation.

"When the kids hear performers like these, either in person or on records and television, they are not likely to settle for second-raters."

Moitoza adds that his group backed the Righteous Brothers in a Corte Madera appearance "when they were first getting started, and before they zoomed up to fame on television."

DICK AND DeeDee, perhaps the special favorites of young Marinites, are described by Moitoza as "one of the best acts we have ever played for."

As for the "Shindig" television show, Moitoza says: "About one-third of it is good, a little of that even great, and the other two-thirds not worth a darn."

Its counterpart, "Hullabaloo," he regards as "too commercialized."

"It seems too grown-up for the kids," he says.

ARE ROCK 'n' rollers really artists? For that matter, are they really musicians?

Moitoza grins. "I know some parents will disagree with me,

They Play The Kind Of Music That Young People Like

Rock 'n' Roll Has Big Following Among The Teen-Agers Of Marin

but I'd answer 'yes.' The good rock 'n' rollers are both musicians and artists."

"It's true that the rock 'n' roller can't play classical music, and usually he can't play jazz," Moitoza admits. "But it's also true that the classical and jazz musicians can't play rock 'n' roll. At least, they can't play it the right way."

TO PLAY rock 'n' roll properly, you have to have "the feel" for it, he contends.

"You can't really play music you don't like," he asserts.

Successful rock 'n' rollers must be able to vocalize as well as play their instruments, Moitoza adds. All of the Opposite Six sing.

"Jazz, classical music and rock 'n' roll are just three entirely different fields of music," he summarizes.

WHAT IS it that makes rock 'n' roll different?

"Well, the obvious answer, of course, is the beat," he answers. "But to me, the big thing about rock 'n' roll is the fact that there is so much movement to it. It takes a lot of routines and steps, along with the music and the singing.

"Jazz and classical music are fine music for listening. I'm a great jazz fan myself. But you don't have much to watch. In rock 'n' roll, you have to do something in time to the music. It just demands it."

MOITOZA NOTES that rock 'n' roll has been subjected to adult criticism because of the emotion it arouses in young listeners.

"But is emotion really bad?" he asks. "I don't think it is, if it can be kept within bounds. Kids need something they can call their own, something to get excited about that the adults haven't taken over. This is their music. And actually, when analyzed closely, it is no sillier than many adult interests. In fact, it is a lot more genuine."

Moitoza is excited about current plans for the opening of a new private nightclub for teenagers in San Rafael.

"IT IS ABOUT two or three months in the future. Plans are to call it the Off Campus West. It would hire only the best rock 'n' roll groups," he says. "I'm not involved, except we would hope to be playing there."

Existing teen-age organizations in the county are generally too small to hire the best in rock 'n' roll, he adds.

As to the other aspirations of his group, Moitoza says: "We all have goals in music, and we all expect to remain in rock 'n' roll as much as possible.

"RIGHT NOW, we are playing mostly casual engagements. We aren't appearing too often in Marin. But we get quite a bit of out-of-county work. One night we may be playing at Ukiah, and a few nights later in San Mateo. And, of course, we get jobs in San Francisco."

Ross Christena of Los Angeles is the personal manager for the band.

The Opposite Six label themselves as the originators of "concert rock 'n' roll," the tag they have given to the sound which they feel distinguishes them from other groups in the rhythm and blues field.

Moitoza won't hazard a guess as to how many of his band's ambitions for the future will be realized.

"IT'S A TOUGH, competitive business," he confesses. "A lot depends on how well this first record goes over."

Nor will he predict any final acceptance of rock 'n' roll by the rank and file of adult music-lovers.

"They're entitled to like their own kind of music, and to listen to it," he says. "And they should accord the kids the same privileges."

DRUMMER Dick Rogers of the Opposite Six is an 18-year-old Sausalito resident. He attends College of Marin. Five of the six members of the rock 'n' roll band are still in their teens. Two still attend high school.

THE JIM WESSMAN HOME at Peacock Gap, San Rafael, blends natural tones of wood, stone and weathered shingle into a pleasing picture. The Perfect Home For Relaxed Living

The Peacock Gap home of the Roger (Jim) Wessmans, at 281 Riviera Drive, San Rafael, is a perfect setting for relaxed family living in a gracious country club setting.

Understated formality is the keynote from the living room to the informal and comfortable family room, and even the attractive children's bedroom wing.

The entrance hall, with wood paneling and white marble floor, leads to the spacious living room. Quiet elegance is seen here in the over-all decor of white, gold and beige, with color accents of lavender and peacock blue.

A WHITE marble facade over the fireplace is the perfect background for a charming oil portrait of three of the Wessman children.

Subtle wood tones of the period furniture at the dining end of the living room are complemented by white, gold and black accents. A striking decorative note is achieved by the unusual "frieze" of gold ivy, which dominates one living room wall.

An efficient U-shaped kitchen has dark brown cupboards, white walls and counter-tops and built-in appliances of stainless steel. A small corner desk is a handy convenience for household planning.

A WHITE formica breakfast and snack counter joins the kitchen and family room, ending with an "entertainment center," complete with bar, sink and glassware cupboard. Bar stools are small black ladders with white tops. This distinctive note is echoed at the driveway entrance where the mailbox is on a ladder.

This "trademark" evolved from Wessman's television commercials for his automobile business, where he sits on a ladder and talks to his audience.

Two "glass walls" in the colorful family room take in a sweeping view of the Peacock Gap rolling countryside. From the swimming pool to the terraced lawn, then to the golf course and Peacock Gap Country Club beyond, the Wessmans have a panoramic view.

IN THE FAMILY room, informal contemporary furniture, accents of bright blues and greens, orange and white, and mellow wood paneling, achieve an air of attractive and comfortable family living and dining.

Off the hallway, from the kitchen to the children's wing, is a convenient laundry center. Here, swinging shutter-doors repeat the white shutters used in the kitchen in lieu of curtains.

The bedroom wing for the four Wessman children is private, colorful and roomy. There is a large bath with double sinks to keep school morning traffic moving. Here, too, are double closets in the hall as well as large closets in every bedroom.

TWIN DAUGHTERS Deborah and Pamela have their own rooms; one decorated in white with orange, the other in white with pink and turquoise.

Roger and Stephen Wessman share a room dominated by colors of orange and brown and white. Wallpaper of sports scenes denote a masculine environment.

Across the entrance hall from

In Their Home That's Built For Relaxation

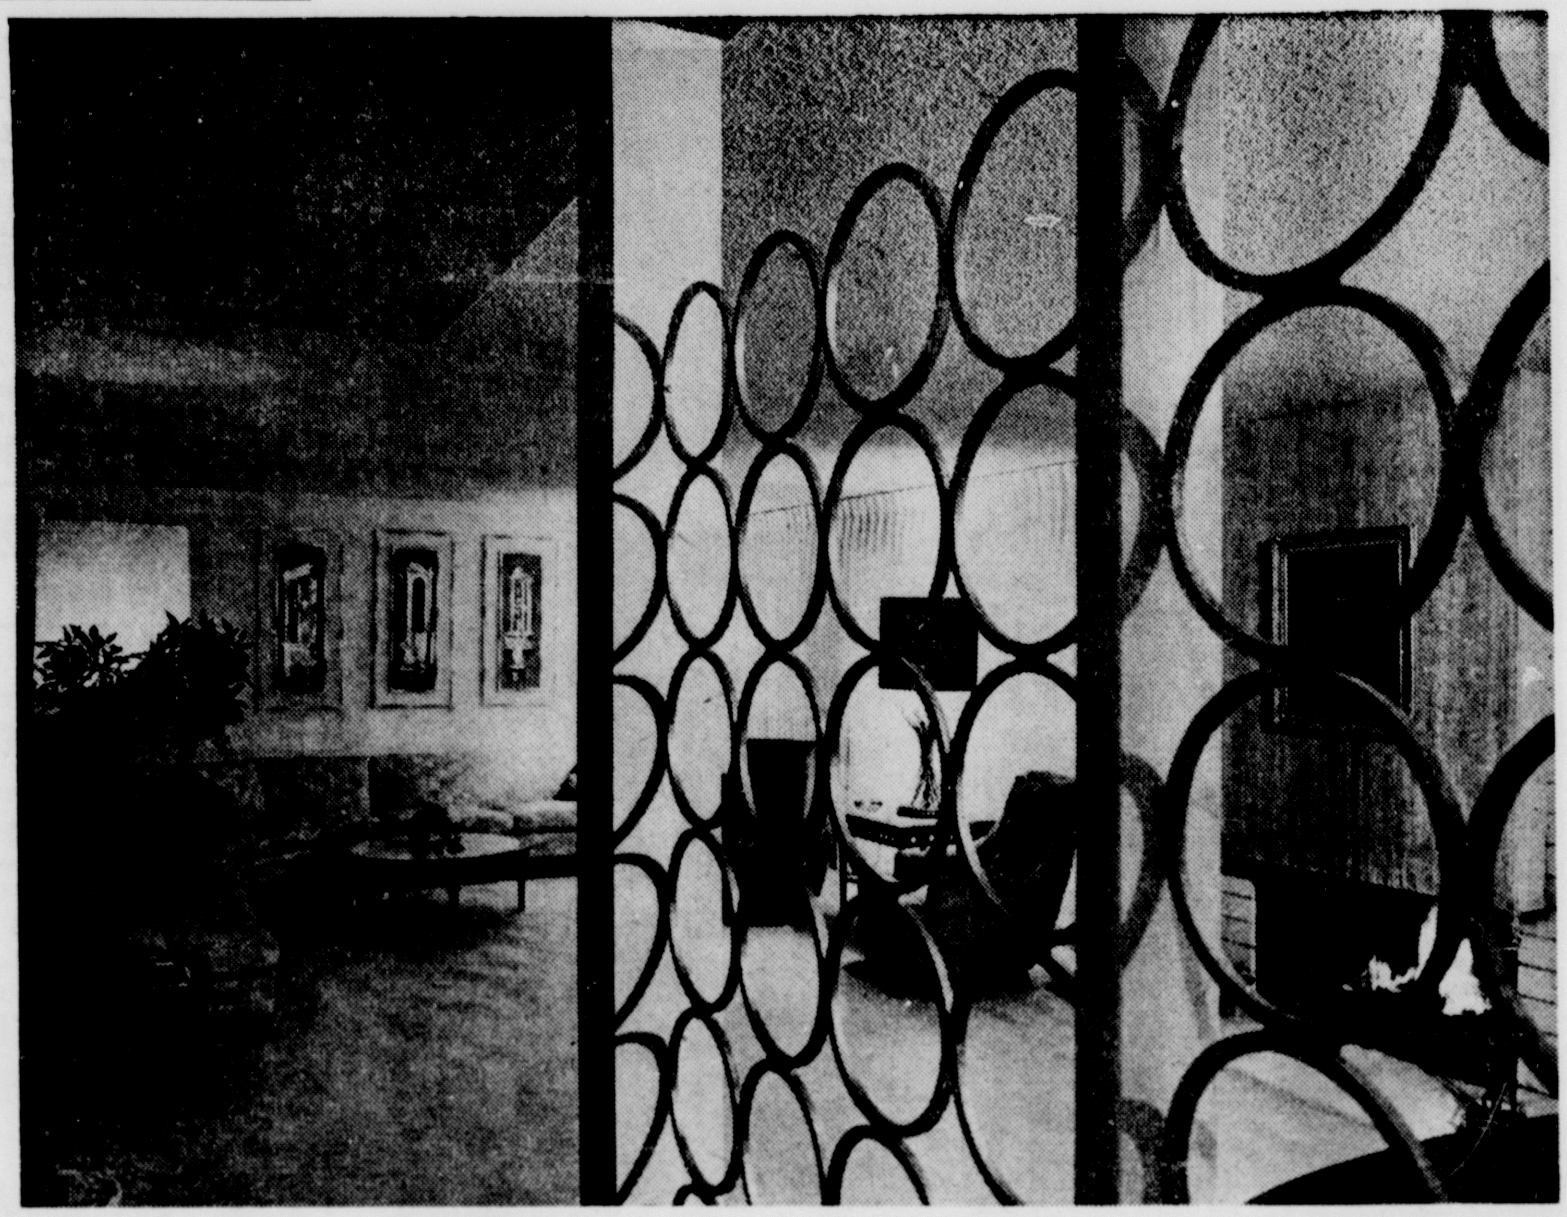
the children's wing of the home is the master bedroom and bath. Beige carpets and draperies and white walls are the background for the stunning bedspread print in pinks, oranges and black.

THE ADJOINING bath and dressing room, with one mirrored wall, repeat the colors of the bedroom. Again, one finds generous closet and storage space.

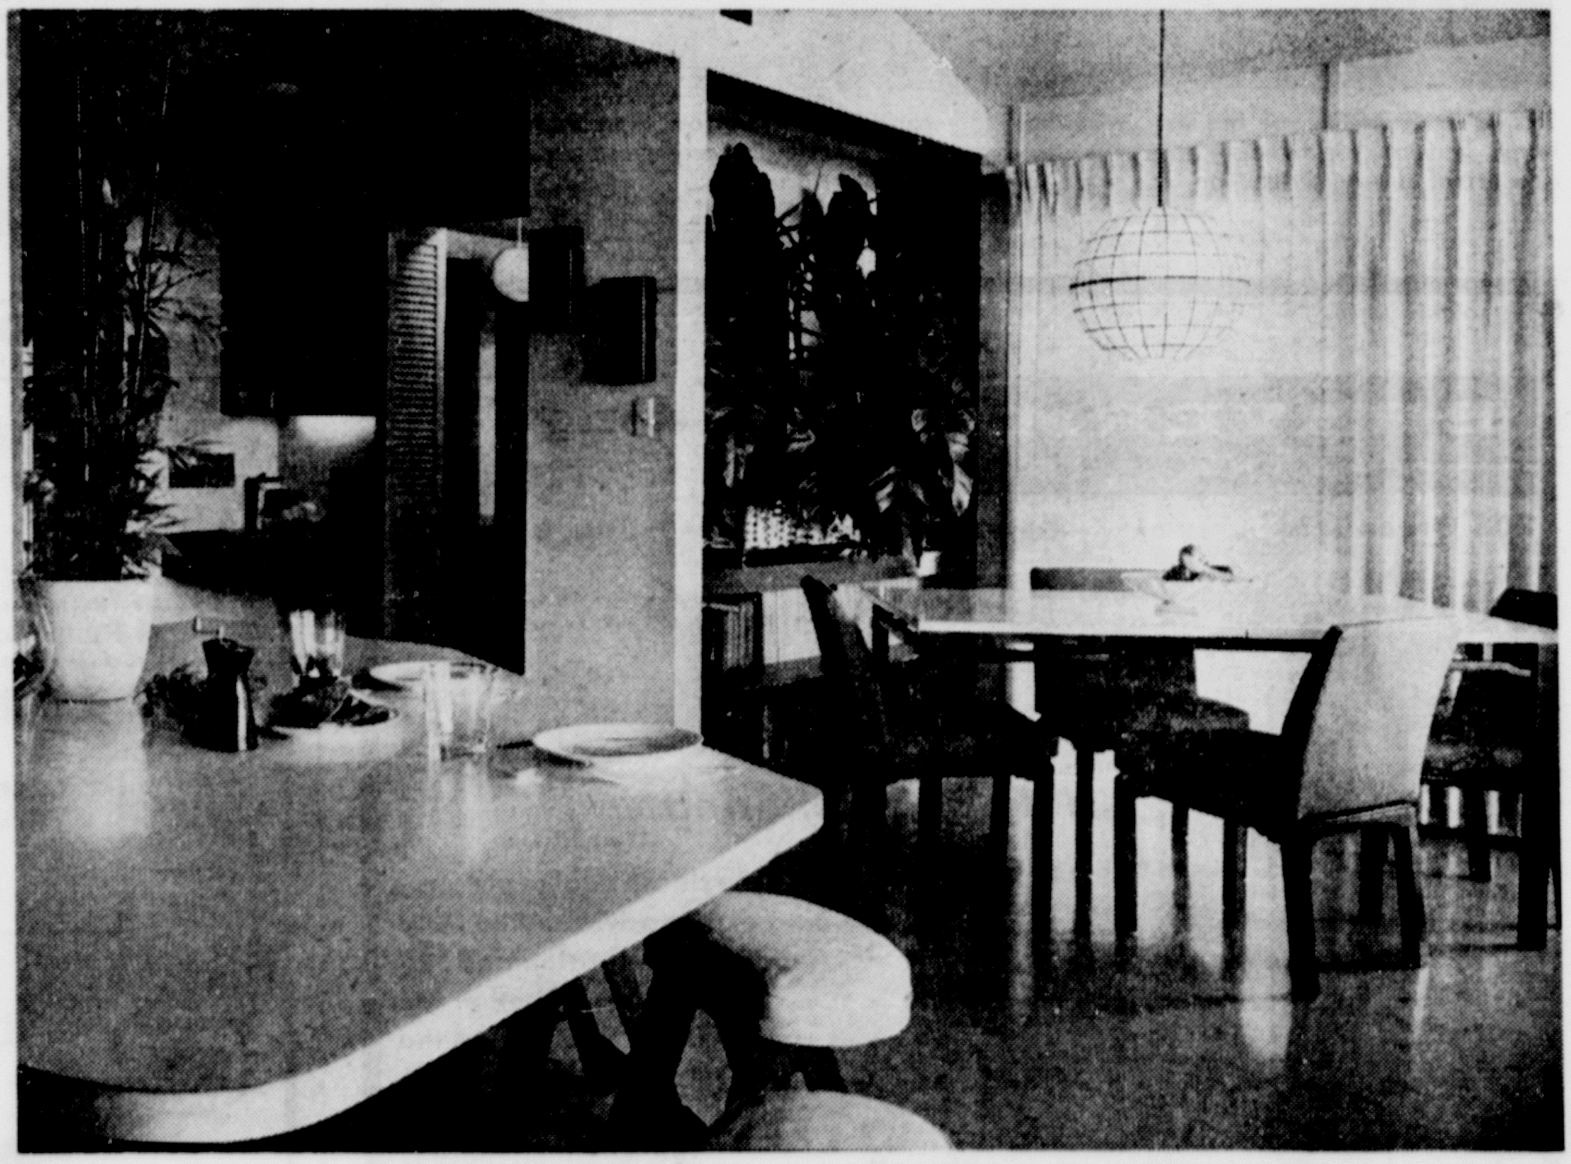
Another bedroom and bath, off the garage, serves as guests' or servants' quarters, and completes the interior of this typically spacious Peacock Gap home.

The exterior of the Wessman home blends natural tones of wood, stone and weathered shingles with the charming accent of the bright orange front door. Built by "Shanahan of Los Angeles," the Oriental lines of this house are reflected in the landscaping by A. & J. Schooter Inc. of San Rafael.

Outside their "back door," the Wessmans enjoy swimming and golf; terrace dining and entertaining—and always, the lovely surroundings for gracious, leisurely living in the country club setting of Peacock Gap.



THE SPACIOUS, FORMAL living room of the Jim Wessman home in Peacock Gap is perfectly planned for entertaining. A white marble facade over the fireplace adds a note of elegance. Furniture is period and in subtle wood tones that harmonize with the white, gold and black accents.



THIS ROOMY CORNER of the family room provides the Wessman family with a quiet place for informal dining. Lush greenery complements the blue and greens that have been used in this room. The connecting kitchen can be seen at left. The whole Wessman home has an air of relaxation and comfort.

Profile Of A Marin Couple

The Busy Ed Neumeiers Have No Time For Hobbies

By JEFF GREER

Few Marin County residents have known the responsibility of the care and feeding of a grumpy, Communist Poland politico and high-ranking professor making an official trek across the United States with a chip on his shoulder—but Ed and Carol Neumeier have.

The San Anselmo couple turned their erstwhile truculent guest, if not into a wholehearted fan of the United States, at least into an unabashed fan of the Neumeiers. They did it with the happy disregard of protocol that marks their success as person-to-person boosters for good will.

BLOND, LANKY Edward J. Neumeier is administrative assistant to the superintendent of the Tamalpais High School District.

His pert wife, Carol, still shows traces of a Southern drawl in dialogues with her Redwood High School students. She is a counselor and journalism and English instructor at Redwood in Larkspur.

Both Neumeiers pour so much energy into education, journalism and public relations, world travel and international friendships, that they have no time for hobbies some folks need to fill idle hours.

"I TRIED gardening once," explains Ed. "It was awful. I tried boating, too, but— well. . ."

Ed is responsible for the Tamalpais District's public relations.

He writes speeches and press releases, guides a speakers bureau, manages all the district's publications, swaps professional tid-bits with other schools, tends to an assortment of intangible community relations chores and especially enjoys an active role in helping form district policy.

BACKGROUND for his job includes experience as an award-winning newspaper reporter, English and journalism teacher; he has an extensive formal education, and has developed a strong interest in just plain people during travels all over the United States and some 40 foreign countries.

Neumeier was born 41 years ago in Los Angeles, and went to public schools there. After World War II duty in the Air Force which included a stint as radio operator in Italy, he attended UCLA and Eastern Washington College.

Armed with a bachelor's sheepskin and what he now labels "burning idealism," Ed invaded the journalistic world.

SUCCESS SPOILED reporter Neumeier, even as a cub on the Humboldt Times in Eureka, Ed now recalls.

In the early 1950s, a double murder in the Valley of the Moon captured headlines all over California; the next day Ed's editor received what he thought to be a crank call. Ed was freed from writing obituaries and other cubbish chores and sent to a neighborhood bar to interview the supposed crank.

In short order, Neumeier arranged for the murderer—for it was he—to surrender to police.

ED'S FEAT earned him the Pall Mall crime story award plus an editorial citation from the California Newspaper Publishers Assn.

Then, the return to the cub reporter's dull routine "deflated my ideals," Ed mourns.

Part of his Eureka newspaper duties was the "campus beat" at Humboldt State College. Ed saw a way to a more challenging future, and enrolled part-time to earn a teaching credential.

AS A BEGINNING classroom teacher in Southern California "my ideals were quickly deflated there, too," Ed relates. He went back to college, obtaining a Master's Degree and additional education credentials.

After more teaching, marriage and world travels, Ed arrived in Marin County in 1959 as a journalism teacher at Sir Francis Drake High School. He soon began helping with the district's public relations; by 1961 this was his full-time job.

Carol, after years of teaching, is shifting in her interests to counseling students. Advanced college courses several nights a week and her Redwood student counseling stints have replaced much of her former heavy classroom load and supervision of campus journalism.

A NATIVE of North Carolina, she became a Phi Beta Kappa student at Wake Forest and Northwestern University.

The two Neumeiers helped set up the Tam district's three student press bureaus. Guided by Ed and Carol and other journalism teachers, the students themselves produce the campus papers and send out regular news releases to the press.

"They're really doing an adult's job on this," Carol stresses. "And there are no worries about censorship."

TAM DISTRICT journalism courses aren't aimed so much at grinding out professional newsmen as improving the students' ability to write, Carol explains. The young writers also learn first hand of the newspaper's impact on its community, through work on the campus publications.

Ca ol declares education a satisfyi.g career, but as she spoke of it, she was staring wistfully at a framed watercolor in her husband's office. It showed one of the exotic Asian spots they visited.

"Teaching has changed so drastically in the last few years," she reflected. "Marin County, you might say, is avant-garde in education, and our county enjoys a high socio-economic level that helps.

"WE'RE CONCENTRATING now on raising the entire level of the nation's education—we're doing things here that attract nationwide attention."

Ed and Carol met at San Bernardino High School, when she reported one September for orientation as a new English teacher. The principal assigned Ed, as a veteran faculty member, to show her around. They were married during the Christmas vacation.

"I guess the principal felt responsible—he gave us away," laughs Carol.

THE TWO teachers soon succumbed to their love of seeing what's over the horizon.

In 1956, Carol received a Fulbright grant to teach English to future English teachers at the University of Thailand. Ed soon found a job at Thammasatt University, Bangkok — also teaching English, but to a group of political science students.

"It was mainly discussion of current events," Ed recalls, and adds that some fairly strenuous political debates ensued.

"THE THAI are a gentle people, though," Ed asserts.

He recites watching a military coup, in which troops marched quietly through the capital without bloodshed, and climbed from their tanks during the noontime heat for a romp with neighborhood children in the shade of palm trees.

Their Thailand year over, the Neumeiers managed to see much of Asia—and then turned to Europe. Although not self-asserted fluent linguists, the two know some German, Spanish, French and Italian.

THEY LIVED in a little-toured quarter of Vienna for five months, and there was born their son, now 7. He's a confirmed victim of wanderlust, too.

After returning stateside, the Neumeiers spent the summer on a cruise ship, teaching orientation classes for 190 Asian students.

They became active boosters of the International Hospitality Center in San Francisco, a non-governmental operation that works closely with the U. S. State Department. They also assist the Committee on Friendly Relations among Foreign Students.

Their hospitality has won them many friends in foreign countries, most of whom correspond with the Neumeiers.

ED AND CAROL may visit this summer with some Yugoslav citizens who have urged them to tour the Communist nation.

"Travel in other communist countries is too restrictive," Ed declares. "Most of them want your itinerary for every minute, and they make all the reservations and tell you everything you can and can't do. Besides, it's too expensive."

Things are different now, though, in Poland as well as Yugoslavia.

THEY'RE THINKING of visiting Warsaw, to see that once-grouchy politico-professor.

"That's quite a story," grins Carol.

"He was actually the head of the economics department in a big Polish university and a member of the national legislature," explains Ed.

The professor was touring the United States as a State Department guest—and everywhere he went, he liked nothing about America and its "decadent bourgeois" residents.

THE POLISH visitor spurned comfortable hotel rooms reserved for him and insisted on inhabiting what were practically skid-road type hostels and dining in greasy-spoon cafes.

His distraught tour sponsors asked the Neumeiers to host him for a weekend in a typical American household.

The services of a government interpreter were offered, "but I'd have none of that," Ed declared.

"NEITHER CAROL nor I spoke Polish, but the professor spoke some French — so I invited over a good-looking French teacher. We all got along famously—so much so that he later called us up from San Francisco and insisted in taking us all for a night on the town."

"And that's not all," Carol chimed in. "Months later, we got this very official document from Poland, inviting us to visit and offering the use of the professor's apartment!"

CORRESPONDENCE FROM Yugoslav citizens urging them to tour that Communist country is read by Ed and Carol Neumeier, while an atlas helps them pinpoint the origin of the letter. The Neumeiers are considering a trip behind the Iron Curtain this summer. Former newspaper reporter Neumeier is administrative assistant to the Tamalpais High School District superintendent; his wife is an instructor and counselor at Redwood High School. In foreground are awards accumulated by Neumeier in his newspaper days.

Marin Surfers Seek Out The Big Waves For Their Favorite Sport

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Shivers and shakes and knots on the knees are rewards of a winter surfer. But so is the thrill of skimming over the foam on a nine-foot board of which, momentarily at least, he is the master.

Veteran surfers prefer winter because, due to weather, breakers are taller and surfing better.

"This isn't local surf. It's caused by winds out in the ocean," muscular Kirby Ferris, 15, explained on a recent Sunday at Stinson Beach.

WEARING A heavy wool coat, he was warming himself on the beach by a driftwood fire, and said he had been in and out of the water since 7 a.m.

The red faced, somewhat bruised young man, who admits to being "hooked" on surfing, explained how a surfer paddles out to sea on his stomach and rides back to shore on his heels and toes.

"The most important thing," he said, "is to stay out of the soup, the white water, while coming in.

"To get out, a surfer paddles straight into the breakers, letting them fall on top of him.

"YOU TRY TO stay in as close to where the wave is curling as possible on return. It's like sliding down hill on a sled. You have to be moving nearly as fast as the wave to start your forward motion on it. You can't just sit and let it wash you in.

"Waves come in groups of five or six and are called a set. Some guys think the last wave is the biggest. Some think it is the middle one.

"A 'wipe out' is when you go flying off the board. To turn the board while standing, you move back on your foot. To walk forward on your board 'trims' the board and speeds you up because it's sledding over water instead of dragging against it.

"A PERFECT wave is the type that doubles over and peels off. If a rider can stay at the hook of the wave, he can make it all the way into the beach.

"You go in the direction the wave tends to break. We call them 'lefts' and 'rights.' When one goes over a wave and is tumbled about in the surf, he 'goes over the falls.' This is not desirable."

Also "hooked" is Dennis Cuyler, 32, who lives, as does Ferris, part-time in San Rafael, part-time in Bolinas.

Cuyler, a lanky, soft-spoken man, went surfing at 11 p.m. one night last month under a full moon in water at 53 degrees.

"IT WAS ON a dare," he said.

However, it is not unusual to surf until 9 p.m. in summer—nor for surfers to start in summer at 5:30 a.m.

Cuyler has surfed Limantour Spit and Drake's Beach which he finds good at times.

"We are trying to drain some of the surfers up to Point Reyes," he advised.

Considered the best surfing in Bolinas in winter is "The Patch," an old clam bed over some rocks at the end of Canyon Road.

BUT THERE is little space to park in this area and surfers are hopeful that a paved parking spot will be created at Ocean Parkway and Overlook Drive with a stairway installed down the cliff to The Patch.

According to Cuyler, the land at the proposed spot is owned by Bolinas Public Utility District and is designated for use in perpetuity for recreation.

Cuyler said the North Point Surfers, a group to which many Marin youngsters belong, has its own garbage cans, but that when clammers and picnickers leave beer cans littering the beach, surfers bear the brunt of the complaints.

SURFERS MAY be 180 strong in summer and there are 400 to 500 who ride the waves off Marin sporadically. They are mainly boys and young men, but there is an occasional girl.

Young Tom Eudy, San Rafael surfer, said boards are waxed for better footing and some guys cut off the "skeg," too. Cutting the skeg, or fin underneath, in the form of a question mark makes for better turns, he said.

The late French writer, Albert Camus, says this of surfers:

"HERE IS A race without past, without tradition and yet not without poetry . . . I have

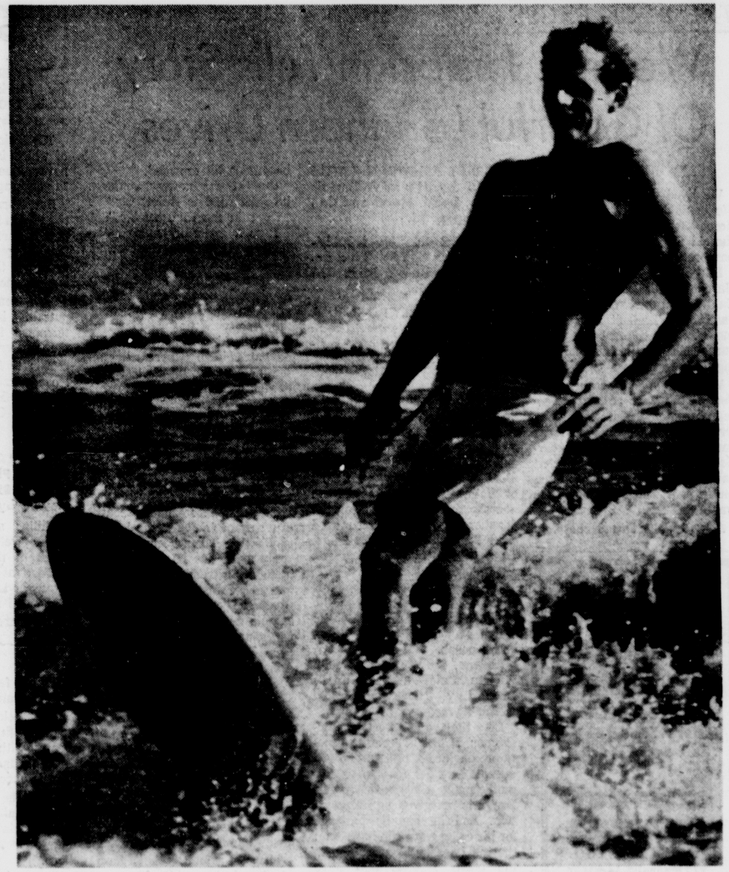
WHEN NOT ON THEIR boards, surfers enjoy nothing more than talking about their favorite sport on the shoreline while they watch, with critical eyes, analyzing and comparing techniques, the performances of their compatriots, as these young enthusiasts are doing.

SURFER DAVE BARCA of Strawberry, in the parlance of the surfer, is "wiped out." This means that he is about to leave his board as it slows and sends him into the spray. Dave's brief but exhilarating ride has come to its conclusion.



THE BRAKING TECHNIQUE of the surfer is demonstrated here as he performs a "standing pull out" by stepping back onto his board to raise its nose. Next, as the board slows, he will bend forward to grab the "rails," ready to drop down and start paddling out again to where still more waves are forming — and beckoning.

WITH A WAVE breaking up to his left, surfer Richard Castleman of Fairfax begins to maneuver his board into a right slide as he "plays" the water expertly.

Young Marin Is 'Hooked' On Surfing--

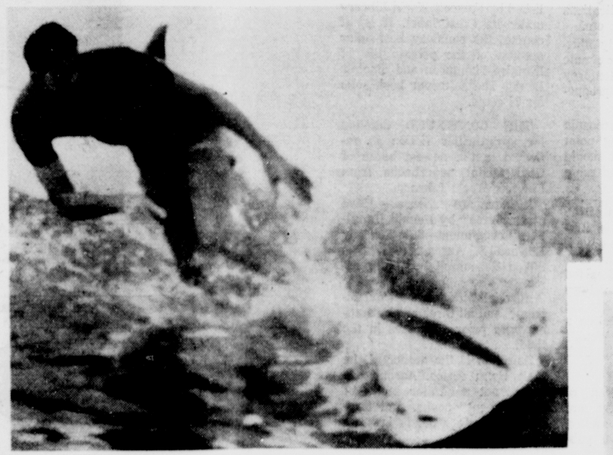
the mad hope that, without knowing it perhaps, these barbarians lounging on the beaches are actually modeling the image of the culture in which the greatness of man will at last find its true likeness."

Marin surfers would probably disdain the use of the term "barbarians," but would not deny that they are "hooked."

Signs of a surfer include woodies (station wagons with wooden sides to carry boys and boards), tans, bruises, skin suits and "baggies" (shorts). But the real mark of distinction is knots on the knees, caused by steady riding of the boards. These knots, which Cuyler has and which, he said, doctors do not worry about, also appear on a surfer's feet.

SURFERS AT Stinson and Bolinas watch tide tables and waves.

When they are not surfing, they are waiting for waves to form, driving up and down the coast in search of waves, or just sitting at someone's beach house talking about the surf.



PLAYING HIS WAVE carefully, surfer Dennis Cuyler leans out on a fast breaker to slice his board to the right so that he can follow the angle of the wave. Only experience, surfers say, can teach you the proper techniques.

THE SPENT WAVES ebb as they near the beach, and Peter Schmidt of Stinson Beach steps off, after riding his board into water that is now but inches deep.

"BODY ENGLISH" helps Frank Barata of Pacifica's Pedro Point Surf Club guide his board as it plows through the "soup."

A WAVE TIPS Pat O'Brien of Bolinas as he paddles out to sea for a ride in. Boards used in Marin weigh from 27 to 32 pounds.

DANCING ON THE WAVES is surfer Rip Ratekin, a Santa Rosa resident "borrowing" one of Marin's waves for a comparatively tranquil ride. This is a small wave, and here Ratekin moves forward to make his board plane and pick up speed. The grace of surfing is one of its attractions for participants and specators alike.

Western Historian Tells Story Of Colorful Longhorn Drives

By DON KEOWN

We lived the first half of our life in Caldwell, Kans., the one-time "Border Queen" town on the old Chisholm Trail. And we have returned there often since.

But in the 15 or so pages Harry Sinclair Drago devotes to Caldwell in his "Great American Cattle Trails," we learned more of the colorful history of our hometown than we did during all the years we spent there.

We mention that as an indication of the vast amount of research — some of it specifically for this book, some of it as part of Drago's previous excursions into western history—that have gone into his story of the routes over which the longhorns traveled.

Actually, the Drago chronicle begins before the era of the longhorns, when smaller but still important drives were made over the old cow paths of the East to Richmond, to Boston, to Harrisburg, etc. And it continues into the period when the shorthorn was replacing the longhorn and were being moved over the last of the cattle trails, from Oregon into Montana and Wyoming.

But the meat of the book is that part which deals with the unequalled traffic in cattle which occurred between Texas and Kansas.

Abilene, Newton, Ellsworth, Wichita, Caldwell and finally Dodge City — their story is told in full flavor.

Like the typical western tale-spinner, Drago is prone to repetition, backtracking and digressing as he tells his story. But unlike many of his counterparts, Drago is not given to exaggeration. And he has no patience for his colleagues who have spun the tall tales and contributed to the phony legends that have grown up around the Old West.

Drago tells it "like it was." And "the way it was" was sufficiently fascinating in itself to make added "gloss" unnecessary. The Jesse Chisholms, John Chisums, Mark Withers, Oliver Lovings and Charles Goodnights of actuality were men who dwarfed the Wyatt Earps and Bat Mastersons of fiction and television. And Drago is just the man to present both groups in their proper perspective.

Like any Drago book, "Great American Cattle Trails" is a must for the western history buff.

GREAT AMERICAN CATTLE TRAILS by Harry Sinclair Drago, Dodd, Mead and Co., 274 pages, $5.

TIGER IN THE HONEYSUCKLE by Elliott Chaze, Charles Scribner's Sons, 306 pages, $4.95.

THE MONTEREY PENINSULA by William Davenport, Lane Book Co., 80 pages, softcover, $1.95.

EXAMINATIONS of the Southern psyche have become a favored motivation of our novelists, and the field is beginning to become a bit crowded.

One of the newest ventures into the field is Elliott Chaze's "Tiger in the Honeysuckle."

It is a generally more satisfactory effort than most of its counterparts.

Chaze begins in the Deep South with Chris Haines, southern-born small town newspaper reporter with the prejudices of his section but without the twisted hatred of his more extreme townsmen. When civil rights demonstrations come to his town, Haines begins to experience an awakening to the facts. And as he begins to think, rather than to simply feel, he finds himself farther and farther alienated from the people with whom he must live.

He sees the so-called "southern way of life" for the hypocrisy which it has become.

The book has its weaknesses, including a trend toward stereotypes. For instance, the brutal, psychotic cop is there. So is the calculating, prejudice - playing politician. And there is the inevitable affair with a Negro girl. And the presence of the liberal Jew.

But Chaze handles his cast, familiar though some of the characters may seem, more skilfully than most. And he makes Haines' gradual growth in understanding more believable than, say, did Ted Carroll with Sonny Calhoun in his "White Pills" which followed the same basic theme.

There is a feeling that Chaze, who has done considerable newspaper work in Mississippi, has presented a clearer picture of the conflict in the Deep South than has the average novelist attracted to the subject.

LANE BOOK Co. has published as part of its softcover Sunset Travel series "The Monterey Peninsula."

Prepared by William Davenport, the guide offers a brief history of the peninsula, more detailed descriptions of today's Monterey, Pacific Grove, the famed 17-Mile Drive, Carmel, Point Lobos, the Big Sur country, Carmel Valley and San Juan Bautista.

Finally, there is a listing of special annual events, of wining and dining places of note, of sporting facilities, publications for naturalists, theaters, etc.

The book is generously illustrated with photos of the scenic beauty with which the Monterey area abounds, and the reproduction is excellent.

Since the Monterey Peninsula is a popular weekending point with Marinites, the book should enjoy a considerable readership here.

THE MARCH selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club is Herman Wouk's newest novel, "Don't Stop the Carnival." It is described as the lighthearted misadventures of a Broadway press agent who undertakes the operation of a resort hotel on a Caribbean island. It is Wouk's fourth Book-of-the-Month Club choice.

A PAPERBACK edition of Vincent Shean's "Dorothy and Red," complete with a section of photographs, has been published by Fawcett World Library under its Crest label. It is, of course, the runaway best-seller account of the private life of Dorothy Thompson and Sinclair Lewis. The softcover book sells for 75 cents.

THE CONTINUED demand for spy thriller fiction is reflected in the newest batch of Gold Medal paperbacks from Fawcett World Library.

Included are "Assassins Have Starry Eyes" by Donald Hamilton, "Assignment—Sulu Sea" by Edward S. Aarons, and "The Silken Baroness" by Philip Atlee.

All deal with international intrigue, and all three are by authors with prior successes in the field.

Hamilton is the author of the Matt Helm series. Aarons has turned out a similar series of "Assignment" books. And Philip Atlee wrote a dandy in "The Green Wound."

THE BLACK GLASS CITY by Judson Philips, Dodd Mead & Co., 187 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Frank Farrara.

Philips steers his hero, reporter Peter Styles, into the midst of movie - making and murder at an old Connecticut estate and the result is a run-of-the-mill mystery yarn.

There are some original touches such as the painting of a clown's mask on a victim's face and the contrast of the hectic life of the film-makers with that of the staid estate owners, but they fail to lift the story above the average.

Styles, who arrives to help an old girl friend turned film star, becomes a marked man, but escapes at the end in a not-too-original fashion. Along the way, he emits a few comments about modern - day morality which carry more weight than the story.

I-J City Editor Has Article In American West Quarterly

Bryce W. Anderson, Independent-Journal city editor who frequently reviews books on western history for the Marin Magazine, has written the featured article for the current winter issue of the quarterly, "The American West."

Anderson tells the story of the Dec. 30, 1905, bombing in Caldwell, Idaho, that killed that city's number one citizen, Frank Steunenberg, sheep rancher, banker, ex-governor and newspaper publisher.

With William E. Borah as special prosecutor and Clarence Darrow as the defense attorney, William Dudley (Big Bill) Haywood, miners' union official, was tried for the murder. He was acquitted. But another man, Haywood's accuser, was not so fortunate.

Anderson tells the full story of one of the most controversial cases in the history of western jurisprudence.

The winter issue of "The American West," co-sponsored by the Western History Assn. and University of Utah, also contains articles by Robert M. Utley on Kit Carson's 1864 campaign against the Kiowas, Apaches and Comanches at Adobe Wells, and a Lewis Atherton-edited account by engineer Gideon Anthony Hamilton of the great Virginia City fire of 1875, plus other features and articles on the early West.

The Fringe Forces

EXTREMISM U.S.A. by John Carpenter, Associated Professional Services Inc., paperback original, 239 pages, 95 cents. Reviewed by Frank Fararra.

The activities of the extreme right and extreme left forces at large on the United States political scene are catalogued in a fairly objective manner.

However, there are passages indicating that the author has a tendency to favor the conservative viewpoint—though not necessarily the extreme right.

Much of the book concerns the Communist Party, which is certainly extreme left, but hardly new ground to cover.

There also are sections dealing with racist groups that include eerie photos of the Ku Klux Klan in action.

Carpenter does a good job of summing up the spectrum of political activity that lies outside what they call the "mainstream."

All that he offers could be read elsewhere, but he has presented a capsule history of extremism for those who want a quick study.

Mathematician-writer "Doc" Smith was named the first member of the then-new Science Fiction Hall of Fame in 1963, mainly on the strength of his "Skylark" and "Lensmen" series of space adventure yarns in the pre-war days.

Perhaps he herewith launches a new series of novels; this one seems written to lead into another book.

Smith's explorers are warmly drawn as good guys, and the tale moves with the speed of light (even skipping a dimension or two here or there) but the science part of the science fiction is the sketchiest, and the political theory reads like it was conceived by a 19th century railroad empire builder.

The cast includes a beautiful girl who has vowed to find her daddy's oil billions, assorted space fleet officers and other good guys and gals who discover they are psychic, and assorted heavies ranging from Communist to feudal capitalist.

There are space wrecks, vicious extraterrestrial monsters, a dash of kosher sex, a dram of metaphysics, and that "Principle of Enlightened Self-Interest!"

TARZAN AND THE CASTAWAYS by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Canaveral Press, 229 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Frank Farrara.

Canaveral Press, which is reissuing the out-of-print works of Edgar Rice Burroughs, offers a fair representation of the author's work here in three former magazine stories combined in book form.

The first and longest story, "Tarzan and the Castaways," first appeared in Argosy magazine in 1941. Tarzan provides the cornerstone for an involved, but fast-paced tale of adventure of a strange land, and naturally he emerges triumphant in heroic fashion.

The shorter stories, "Tarzan and the Champion" and "Tarzan and the Jungle Murders," originally appeared in magazines in 1940.

There are touches of humor and irony when Tarzan tangles with the heavyweight boxing champ, and a little intellectual adventure for a change when Tarzan turns sleuth in the murder mystery.

The Stereo Scene And Mexican Culture

By JOHN SUNIER
KBRG Program Manager

MEXICO: ITS CULTURAL LIFE IN MUSIC AND ART — Columbia Records Legacy Series LS 126 Stereo:

The unique Legacy Series from Columbia is a combination of the written word, the picture, the spoken word, music, and, in some cases, mere sound itself.

The lavishly-designed series has already presented "The Revolution," "The Union," "The Confederacy," and "The Badmen." This latest production forsakes American history to explore the exotic and (unfortunately) unfamiliar-to-most culture of our neighbor to the South.

"Mexico: It's Cultural Life in Music and Art" is packaged with an exterior looking very much like a multi-disc opera album. It is an adobe-brown color, with the simple, if somewhat pretentious title "Mexico," centered on the front. A book with the same design slides out of the exterior case, and the single 12-inch stereodisc is in a sleeve attached to the inside back cover of the 12-inch square book.

The striking book contains 72 pages of essays, photographs and reproductions of Mexican art — from prehistoric times to the socially-conscious panoramic murals of such modern artists as Rivera and Siqueiros. The emphasis of this collector's item album is on the music and art of 20th century Mexico, but both the recording and the articles also define clearly the historical origins of the current Mexican cultural renaissance.

The recording is the fruition of an idea born in 1940 when famed Mexican composer Carlos Chavez presented a concert at the Museum of Modern Art in New York City in conjunction with the exhibition, "Twenty Centuries of Mexican Art."

In 1962, Goddard Lieberson journeyed to Mexico to re-record a selective representation of that concert. Included in the resulting LP are a dance from the Mexican ballet, "Los Cuatro Soles" by Carlos Chavez who is also responsible for the musical direction of the recording; "Xochipilli," Aztec music (as it most probably sounded) reconstructed by Chavez; "El Venado," an arrangement of the traditional Yaqui "Dance of the Deer" by Luis Sandi, and other popular music which suggests the scope of the Mexican musical heritage.

The book divides itself into three general sections which relate the history of Mexico and the story of its art and music.

In "Under the Fifth Sun," the first section of the book, historian and noted authority on Mexico Carleton Beals presents an essay, "Mexico: Old and New" which traces the history of the country from the days of the ill-fated Aztec society through its emergence as the independent Federal Republic it remains today under President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

The middle section of the book contains a scholarly and extended exposition of Mexican art with particular concentration on the Mexican painters of the 20th century: Diego Rivera, David Alfaro Siqueiros, Jose Clemente Orozco and Rufino Tamayo.

Following "A Brief Perspective" by distinguished art critic Antonio Castro Leal which furnishes historical background on folk art, pre-Spanish culture and the Mexican Baroque, Stanton L. Catlin (assistant director of the Yale University Art Gallery) contributes a lengthy and absorbing study of the magnificent art renaissance to which the aforementioned painters and muralists have offered so much.

The last part of the elaborate book is devoted to the "Music in Mexico" with a summation by Carlos Chavez and notes on the recorded works which explain the derivations and history of these selections.

Columbia Records is hopeful that its latest Legacy presentation will provide an illuminating glimpse into the creative regions of Mexico's complex and inspiring civilization.

That Old Problem Of Noisy Plumbing

A person who gets a "bang" out of his plumbing system doesn't necessarily enjoy it—he may have one that is noisy.

Sometimes the plumbing in older houses violates the "be seen and not heard" rule and makes quite a clatter.

The Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau says that most of this noise is caused by excessive water velocity and inadequate piping. The noise factors most commonly found in older homes are water hammer, whistling and chattering.

Water hammer is the thumping heard when faucets are turned off abruptly. It is corrected by adding small air chambers to the piping, or sometimes with devices called "shock absorbers."

Whistling is caused by water being forced through piping that is too small. It happens most often at bends and tees in the pipes. In most cases, the installation of a pressure-reducing valve will solve the problem. Occasionally it is necessary to replace parts of the piping.

Chattering is usually the result of loose pipes or fixture parts. It is often easily remedied by securing the part at fault.

In building, it is important not to skimp on the size of water piping installed. Larger pipe will provide adequate supply as well as prevent bothersome noise.

THIS EASY-TO-BUILD redwood planter box can be an attractive asset to an entrance or garden patio. Casters are optional to facilitate moving the plants as the seasons change. California redwood is a perfect choice for planter boxes because of its resistance to decay, warping, insects and the elements. It is easy to work, holds nails better than most woods, does not contain oils or resins which may contaminate planting soil and its natural properties include durability and high strength in relation to light weight. Complete working drawings with step-by-step instructions for this 18-by-18-inch planter box, as well as other sizes in this design, can be obtained by sending 25 cents for postage and handling to Simpson Timber Co., 2127 Washington Building, Seattle 1, Wash.

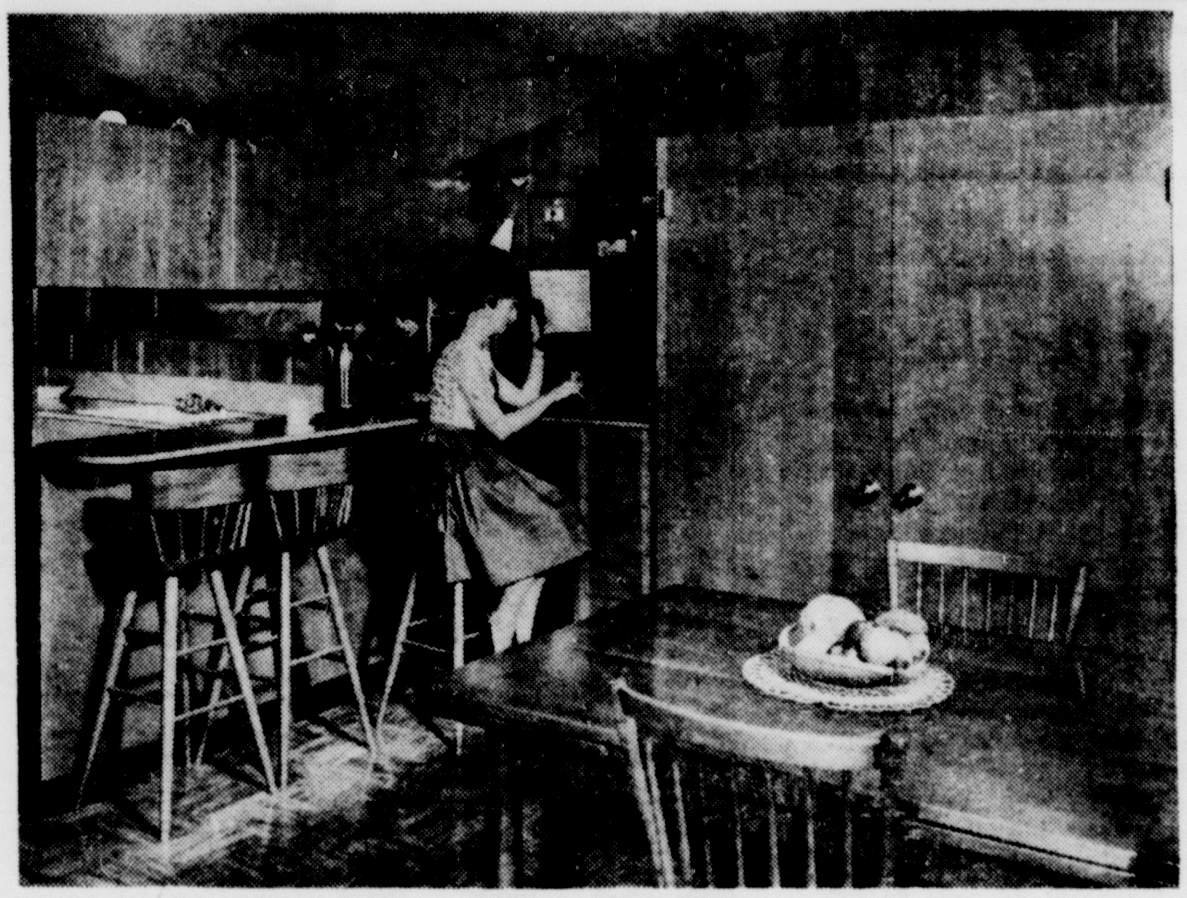
Built-Ins Will Add To Space



BUILT-INS GIVE good mileage in a kitchen-family room arrangement. The homemaker's desk tucked behind breakfast bar makes top use of a small corner. Adjoining closets hold tableware, children's toys. Coordinated built-ins can be tailored of prestige woods like Douglas fir or Ponderosa pine, with matching paneling.

What's the secret of a good, workable family room?

Built-ins!

Many family rooms today are placed as an arm of the kitchen where they assume multiple duties: Children's playroom, breakfast nook, informal dining room, and often the party center for the family's adults as well as for the younger generation.

OBVIOUSLY, this room must then be mighty versaitle, able to change its character in the flick of a whisker—or to care for all needs simultaneously.

Built-ins are the great helper, because nothing can beat a well placed, well designed cupboard for increasing efficiency and making top use of space. Designed in workable, durable woods such as Douglas fir and ponderosa pine, an assortment of built-ins will put every inch of wall space to work—handsomely.

For example, one wall might be designed entirely in large, double-door closets. Inside these sleek-faced closets, adjustable shelving and drawers of varying room storage needs.

THE CHINA and linens for the table could go here, just a step away from point-of-use and only several steps from the dishwasher. This sensible arrangement keeps kitchen cupboards free for work storage.

Another section of the closet could be designated especially for the children's toys, and might include hanging space for their outdoor wraps.

A third section of the closet could open up to reveal laundry facilities, if it's more convenient to include washer, dryer, and ironing board here rather than in a separate room.

For interesting design, the closets might be built out from the wall to appear like free standing units, with adjacent wall surfaces paneled in pine or fir to match.

OTHER SPECIAL built-ins are needed, too, for complete service. In a corner near the kitchen—perhaps tucked alongside a breakfast bar—could be a small homemaker's desk complete with drawers for filing and storage, as well as its own lighting and telephone.

Another wall of the family room might be designed in cabinets tailored especially for music, television and books to make this room truly a family living area.

In addition to the built-ins' purely practical contribution, they and matching wall paneling add charm and personality to a family room, transforming it from the usual blank-faced, drab and cluttery space to a room of comfort and individuality.

Now's Time For Browsing Among The Pretty Daisies

It's that time again, and no matter what kind of a gardener you are—whether you're the occasional weekend dabbler or the every-day devotee—you should be deciding what seedlings you are going to set out in the freshly warming earth.

Comes mid-March, some of you will want to get on with the actual planting. (Others prefer to await April's arrival.)

AND THERE ARE so many attractive, easy-to-grow introductions in the annual and perennial world that it's a good idea to check the stock at your nursery now to make sure you don't overlook anything that might be an ideal candidate for your particular scheme.

While you are performing this pleasant task, be sure to see the large stock of daisy-flowered plants nurserymen have collected this year to brighten your house and grounds.

There is something about a drift of fresh-faced daisies that transforms any planting into a cheerful, "gardeny" scene. And whether you're looking for bright color to mass on your terrace, a vivid, sturdy groundcover, a graceful swath of long-season color for edging or border, or charming bouquets for the house, you'll find a happy answer in any of the daisies listed below.

PROBABLY THE most useful member of the daisy family is the vigorous and reliable Shasta.

The Shasta Daisy has come a long way since Luther Burbank first developed it, and you can choose from single or double, frilly or plain, tall or short varieties that bloom freely and have no pest problems at all. You'll find a superb collection of Shastas at your nursery soon now, ready for spring planting wherever you want a sturdy, free-blooming white perennial. Today's Shasta is unquestionably one of the best flowers for cutting, so plant enough to brighten your garden and fill your house too.

Give them full sun if you can, except in very warm areas, and for outstanding blooms, plant them in deeply dug, enriched soil.

IF YOU'RE wondering what to plant over fading bulbs right now, you should consider the appealing Swan River Daisy. It is only six to 12 inches tall, and if you plant it in large, broad masses, you'll have a carpet of white, rose, blue or dark violet flowers in late spring and early summer.

One daisy you could take home and start enjoying right now is the almost ever-blooming Marguerite.

Invaluable here in California where they bloom 10 to 12 months of the year, Marguerites are a natural for tubs on the terrace where their profusion of white, yellow, pink (or sometimes even blue) one-and-a-half to two-and-a-half inch daisies can be counted on to mound up artlessly and smother the plants with bloom. Growing three to four feet high with an equal spread, just a few of these shrub-like perennials will add a whopping amount of color to borders and tub plantings.

They prefer full sun, they don't care much about water, and they like a dry, not-too-fertile soil.

THERE ARE SO many richly colored flowers called African Daisies that there isn't room to list all the annual and perennial varieties here. But if you're looking for a low, showy ground cover or a medium or tall splash of color along a drive or on a gentle slope, ask your nurseryman about Cape Marigolds and African Daisies.

The star of the African varieties is the Transvaal Daisy, which is considered the most richly textured and sophisticated of all daisies. It needs a little more attention than most daisies, but if you supply it with the care it needs, you'll be rewarded with an elegant display of curving-stemmed, slim-petaled flowers. You can choose this perennial in just about every color of the wheel from pale, creamy whites and yellows to deep oranges and reds, single or double.

Best of blooms occur in early summer and late fall, but it will be colorful in some fashion from May to December. This is one flower that not only asks but demands perfect drainage. It should be planted with its crown a quarter inch above the soil and protected from strong winds.

And don't forget, while you're browsing your nursery, to ask about the tall, violet-blue Michaelmas Daisy and that rosy little edging plant, the English Daisy.

ONE OF THE MOST popular daisies with Californians is the sturdy, free-blooming Shasta. Choose now among frilly or plain, tall or short varieties of this sparkling, pest-free perennial, and then, in another two or three weeks, you can begin planting them in a sunny spot. They'll brighten your garden from late spring to fall, and provide excellent cut flowers for the house. (Photo courtesy of California Assn. of Nurserymen)

A Vine Isn't Always Your Friend

Although climbing vines are attractive and useful plants in many situations, you should not allow them to grow in your shrub beds or near your ornamental trees.

In such locations any vine must be regarded as a "weed," for it will use adjacent plants for support and may cause severe damage.

It may grow spirally around the trunk and form an unyielding, constricting band that retards passage of nutrients and causes deformity or death of the host plant. It may grow upward, spread widely over supporting branches, and develop such dense foliage that its host may be deprived of sunlight needed for good health and normal growth.

Vines frequently responsible for such damage include poison ivy and oak, Virginia creeper or woodbine, bittersweet, trumpet-creeper, some species of honeysuckle, wild grape, field bind - weed and many others. The seeds of many of these vines are carried by birds and germinate readily when dropped on cultivated or shaded soil.

To destroy unwanted vines, the National Arborist Assn. advises digging deeply to remove all the roots or use of such herbicides as 2, 4, 5-T and amine - triazole. The chemical may be applied to the stems of the vines with a paint brush to avoid the possibility of injuring other plants.

GARDENERS CHECKLIST

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

✔Set out clumps of delphiniums now and get as many as three separate flushes of bloom from them this year. Choose among the new varieties available in tall, medium and low, bushy plants, and work lime or bone meal into the planting holes.

✔You'll still find some bargains at the nursery in bareroot plants. Try to find some flowering trees before it's time for them to burst into bloom. Or fill out your shrubbery border with colorful, deciduous shrubs. Last chance to plant roses bareroot.

✔Don't let the weeds get ahead of you. Take advantage of the excellent selective weed killers available at all the nurseries. They'll rout the offending weeds without disturbing your lawn, ivy, shrubs or bedding plants.

✔Another week or two and it will be a good time to plant citrus. Pick out a warm, sunny spot in the garden for these now. Tubbed dwarf citrus is a colorful and fragrant addition to the patio.

✔Finish general dormant spraying before buds open.

WEEKEND SHOWS

Satirist Freberg On Nine

Stan Freberg, comedian and satirist, is interviewed by Prof. Edwin Purr Pettet on KQED tonight at 9 o'clock, and has some fun with the advertising world.

Also scheduled for this evening:

Roy Rogers and wife Dale Evans host "The Hollywood Palace" revue on KGO at 9:30; Harry S. Truman discusses the punishment of World War II criminals on his "Decision" series on KPIX at 6:30, and Stanford and Southern California clash in basketball on KTVU at 8 o'clock.

As for movies, KRON carries the Bing Crosby film, "Riding High," at 9 p.m.; Kim Stanley stars in "The Goddess" on KPIX at 11:15, and KGO airs a Peter Sellers comedy, "The Battle of the Sexes," also at 11:15.

TOMORROW, Channel 9 will be on the air to carry the closing day of the University of California Conference on Poverty in America, with a morning session at 9:30 a.m., and an afternoon session at 2:30 p.m.

Pro basketball pits the San Francisco Warriors against the Baltimore Bullets on KGO at 2 p.m. "Sports Spectacular" on KPIX at 2:30 offers the North American Figure Skating Championships and the World's Invitational Handball Championship.

An Elvis Presley movie, "Kid Galahad," will be seen on KGO at 9 p.m.

Also tomorrow: Walter Matthau portrays Andrew Johnson on "Profiles in Courage," KRON at 6:30 p.m.; Walt Disney begins the story of a boy who wants to become a member of the Vienna Boy's Choir, KRON at 7:30 o'clock; Eric Leinsdorf conducts the Boston Symphony in Schubert's "Symphony in C" on KGO at noon.

At 10 a.m., KPIX presents a review of the recent executives' symposium, conducted at St. Mary's College.

NEW ...

Rugged Design and Extra Power

CHANNEL MASTER

ANTENNA ROTATORS

MORE ACCURATE... aims your antenna within one degree of exact transmitter location. You can get more stations ... from all directions ... over greater distances.

MORE DEPENDABLE... new design principle assures extra power ... smooth, trouble-free performance.

MORE RUGGEDLY BUILT... to stand up, not act up, in all kinds of weather and temperature extremes. A real "heavy duty" rotator ... does the job better, anywhere.

Treat your set and your family to the best.

Your Marin County independent TV dealer can clear up muddy color and sharpen black & white pictures with a Chanel Master antenna installation.

IT WILL BE a great week for singing on TV during the next seven days, and among those lifting their voices will be those pictured here. The Chad Mitchell Trio at top takes part in the "Hullabaloo" show on KRON Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. Members are, left to right, Mike Kobluk, Chad Mitchell and Joe Frazier. At right, Robert Goulet and Eydie Gorme sing tunes from Broadway musicals and Hollywood movies on the "Bell Telephone Hour" on KRON Tuesday at 10 p.m. And below, in still another NBC network musicfest to be carried by KRON, Perry Como will have Lena Horne as his guest on Como's "Kraft Music Hall" show Thursday at 10 o'clock. The Como program of an hour of music and variety will originate from the new War Memorial Auditorium in Boston. Now sit back and listen to all that harmonizing.
